

New County Twist for Anti-Goodell Bloc

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
A hurriedly called gathering of about 50 Republicans met Friday night to form the nucleus of an organization "to support conservative James L. Buckley for U.S. Senate, exert all efforts to defeat Sen. Charles E. Goodell and to support all Republican candidates running for office in 1970 other than Goodell."

Although the nominating committee will not report until the next meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Gov. Clinton Hotel, it is anticipated that well-known Saugerties industrialist Fabian Russell will be named to head the organization in which only enrolled Republicans are eligible for membership.

Taking an active part in last night's meeting at which those present voted unanimously to an agreement of incorporation were Anthony DeLisio, attorney John Egan and Harold Finkle. Egan and Finkle are serving as chairmen and secretary until a slate of officers is voted at the next meeting. Assemblyman H.

Clark Bell attended as an observer.

Serving on the nominating committee are Lawrence Bogert of Kingston, Thomas Mance, Shawangunk; Warren Hutty, Woodstock; Charles Relyea, Hurley and Mary Andreyko, Walker Valley.

Egan, in addressing the group said that the idea of Republicans working to elect Buckley "has mushroomed throughout the county to a point where it is unbelievable and there is excellent reaction to it," Egan told The Freeman he felt that perhaps Ulster would pave the way for other similar organizations in other counties to form.

Buckley, who is seeking the U.S. Senate post on both the Conservative and the Independent Alliance tickets, is scheduled to appear in Kingston Sept. 28 at a public meeting at Kingston High School at 8:30 p.m.

Among prominent Ulster County Republicans who have expressed interest in or attended the organizational meeting for Buckley were attorney George Rusk Jr., former Dupont executive Kenneth Davis; A. J. Snyder of Rosendale; County Legislators Lester J. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) and Ralph Brach (R-Dist. 9), Joseph Vosage, Michael Larkin, brother of Supreme Court Justice candidate John L. Larkin; Dr. and Mrs. Peter D. Corsones, Savanos "Sam" Matthews, Edward Gona, committeemen from Lloyd and Lillian Hopper and Peter Weider Hurley committeemen.

The organization will have four officers and a board of directors consisting of 20 members from all parts of the county.

Individual support for Buckley for Senate also came this week from former four-term supervisor and county legislator Clarence C. Raichle of Kingston who announced that he "strongly" endorses Buckley.

A Republican committeeman for 20 years, Raichle said that as a Republican he "detests the way Goodell has attacked President Nixon during the past two years." He predicted that Buckley will carry Ulster County by 5,000 to 6,000 votes. He managed the 1965 New York Mayoralty campaign of his brother, William F. Buckley Jr., and was a candidate for U.S. Senator from New York in 1968. His opponents were Republican Sen. Jacob Javits and Democrat Paul O'Dwyer. He polled more than one million votes.

In campaigning, Buckley claims his opponents, Goodell and Democrat-Liberal Richard Ottinger share a common stance, "a minority viewpoint in New York State." He points out that he is the only one of the three who has generally supported President Nixon.

U.S. Air Strikes—No Restrictions

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has placed no geographical restrictions on U.S. Air Force strikes inside Cambodia against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and supplies, informed sources said today.

The sources said that although some historical shrines such as the Angkor temple ruins northwest of Phnom Penh may be off limits to U.S. bombers, there are no geographical limitations if military officials believe enemy buildups might pose a threat to allied forces in South Vietnam.

This was the first time such a disclosure had been made, but the sources said it did not represent any change in policy.

The disclosure came in response to queries whether American planes had supported Cambodian forces during the heavy fighting Thursday and Friday within six to nine miles of Phnom Penh.

One source said no American warplanes had supported the battle but added the comment that they would not be forbidden if military officials thought that a potential threat was posed to allied forces in Vietnam.

Informants said most American air strikes in Cambodia are centered east of the Mekong River in the northeastern part of the country against North Vietnamese supply routes running southward from Laos.

State Department denies report of Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) who said he suspects U.S. technicians may be sent into Cambodia to operate electronic equipment supplied under new arms aid program . . . Story Page 14.

Meanwhile, Associated Press correspondent T. Jeff Williams reported from Phnom Penh that Cambodian forces had begun clearing operations northeast of the capital. Reports from Phnom Penh said three Viet cong battalions—perhaps up to 1,000 troops or more—apparently had slipped away.

Maj. Am Rong, the Cambodian military spokesman, said several air strikes were carried out against suspected Viet Cong base areas near Prek Tameak, nine miles northeast of Phnom Penh. He did not specify whose airplanes conducted the latest strikes.

"There are no boundaries for American bombers in Cambodia," said one source. "If we felt interdiction of enemy forces would secure our positions in the event enemy forces became a potential threat to Vietnam, we would hit where we had to."

"Whenever possible, Cambodian and South Vietnamese planes are hitting as many targets as they can reach and handle. When they need help, the U.S. Air Force goes."

The latest disclosure confirmed the American policy of providing direct air support to Cambodian ground forces, although the U.S. Command preferred to describe the raids as "interdiction" missions primarily aimed at cutting off North Vietnamese troops and supplies that threaten allied forces in South Vietnam.

Sources said the North Vietnamese are infiltrating from the North through Laos and Cambodia in smaller groups to avoid bombing raids.

The enemy "is moving farther away from the interdiction in Laos and Cambodia," said one source. "He'll go as far west into Laos and Cambodia as he has to. He is using more routes, including waterways. U.S. bombers are hitting the waterways he moves on."

Meanwhile, ground action continued in a lull in South Vietnam with only small clashes reported.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon announced the closeout of a 10-day operation inside Cambodia and claimed 47 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed and 41 rifles captured. South Vietnamese losses were reported as 15 killed and 78 wounded.

Scenic Storm King Mt. Scorched by Flames

(Combined Wire Services)

A wood and brush fire at Storm King Mt. was still burning, but under control, today, having destroyed about 50 acres of thick pine near Cornwall before being contained by Cornwall firemen, soldiers from West Point and Palisades Interstate Park rangers.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, but light rainfall in the area in recent months has dried out large sections of woodland north and west of New York City.

A minor outbreak, covering less than an acre, was quenched on Tongue Mountain near Lake George.

Another brush fire was burning, but also contained, further south at Kitchen Stairs Mt. in the foothills of the Palisades Interstate Park near Suffern. About 10 acres of wood were destroyed there before Suffern firemen contained the fire.

The Storm King fire was declared technically under control late Friday evening and one crew remained overnight on the fire watch. No new outbreak was reported during the night.

Some 300 firemen and volunteers battled the flames on Friday before giving up when darkness fell.

State forest rangers and fire-fighting units from several area communities helped fight the blaze.

The 1,500 foot mountain is the site of a proposed hydroelectric power plant that has raised a storm of protest from conservation groups who claim the project would deface the mountain, one of the major scenic points along the historic river, just several miles from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

One fireman was hospitalized with smoke inhalation. Two other received minor injuries. The charred woodlands were near the site of a proposed $234 million hydroelectric power plant that the Consolidated Edison Company wants to build to help it meet future power needs of New York City.

The project, to be partially run with nuclear energy, has come under heavy criticism from conservation groups who have vowed to go to court to block construction of the plant.

Route 218, winding along the base of the mountain was closed to traffic after burning logs and rocks rolled down on the roadway.

Two homes near the base of the mountain were undamaged by the fire.

Firemen were expected back on the mountain this morning as fire planes resumed spraying.

In Wyoming, meanwhile, fire fighters, backed by calm winds and cool temperatures, worked to smother three critical sections of a 6,400-acre blaze in the Big Horn National Forest today.

Erratic wind gusts up to 50 miles an hour that fanned the blaze from a quarter-acre plot last Monday died down Friday.

Fire lines were extended around the blaze just south of the Montana border and backfires were started to consume the remaining timber in three areas.

Map-up operations were well underway at two other major fires in this heavily forested state. More than 2,000 acres of prime timber and thick vegetation have been burned in the three fires in one week.

Ulster Outlook—Forest Men Concerned

By MATT SPIRENG

NEW PALTZ est ranger with the State Conservation Department in New

A lack of rainfall in Ulster County and surrounding areas Sussdorff explained that Ulster County "is not near the rangers that a dangerous forest critical point at all yet," but fire situation may arise in late summer or early fall.

"If we don't get substantial rain or rain at proper intervals we will be in trouble," said Sussdorff, district foreman of lesser vegetation, making more fuel available for fires, and making it easier for them to start," Sussdorff said.

He went on to explain that lesser vegetation encompasses grasses, ferns, weeds, twigs, and leaves which will retain a safe level or moisture if there is enough rainfall or if humidity is high enough.

Insect defoliation is also another problem, according to Sussdorff, who said that 140,000 acres of land in Orange, Sullivan, Rockland and Ulster Counties have been affected thus far. He explained that defoliation allows sun and wind to get at the forest floor to dry it, and also lowers the relative humidity in affected areas.

A storm with a considerable amount of lightning, or careless people could cause a problem, according to Sussdorff.

"There has been no real high occurrence of fires yet," said Sussdorff, adding that his department was called on about five fires last week and another five this week. There have been grass fires and others which local fire companies handled, not calling in the forest rangers, he added.

"We have had a good situation up to this point," said the district forest ranger, "but at this point we could go either way."

Preparedness is a major part of the forest rangers' work, explained Sussdorff, and rangers and other personnel keep a continuous check on the possibility and occurrence of forest fires. Another part of the rangers' job is law enforcement in forest preserves.

At present there are six forest rangers stationed in Ulster County; William Morse in Ker-honkson; Franklin Borden in Pine Hill; C. Peter Fish in Ellenville; Aaron VanDeBogart in Woodstock; Byron Hill in Rosendale and Raymond Wood in Wallkill.

There are also seven fire towers located in Ulster County at Balsam Lake Mountain, Belleayre Mountain, High Point in the Shawangunks, Mohonk, Overlook Mountain, Mount Tremper and Red Hill near Sundown.

So while rangers continue to hope for rain and an absence of dry winds which will dry land and fan a fire, they continue to prepare in the eventuality a dangerous situation arises later this summer or in early fall.

Meanwhile, light showers in the area early Friday morning did nothing to ease the situation, according to Sussdorff, as the rains were not heavy enough to do any good. In fact, even with the showers the situation has worsened slightly.

Sussdorff. Showers forecast for Sunday may or may not help ease the situation, depending on whether enough rain falls.

Abruzzi Returns $2,500 'Rock' Fee

By HUGH REYNOLDS

NEW PALTZ Dr. William Abruzzi, nationally known "rock fest doctor" who has treated young people from Bethel to Powder Ridge, told The Freeman today that he is returning his $2,500 fee for medical services at the spring weekend rock concert at New Paltz May 1-3.

Abruzzi, speaking of the criticism directed at him after a report issued on New Paltz student activity fees by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt on Tuesday, "I have a large investment in time and energy to the beauty of this generation. Nothing is worth having that investment tarnished."

Abruzzi, who directed the organization of medical facilities at New Paltz for the spring weekend rock concert, stated today that he hired "six to eight doctors, eight to 10 nurses and 15 paramedics."

"We had expected a crowd of between 25,000 to 50,000 young people at the New Paltz spring weekend concert," he told The Freeman. "The students asked me to set up medical facilities."

The actual crowd, according to Abruzzi, the college physician, was "around 8,000 to 10,000," Abruzzi says his staff treated "hundreds of kids, 40 'bad trips' from narcotics," Abruzzi's original estimate for medical services for the weekend was $5,500, according to Levitt's report. A $2,500 check was endorsed and sent to Abruzzi but another $3,000 check made out to Abruzzi was later found in student government files, unsigned. He has returned the $2,500 check.

Abruzzi said he has not paid any of his staff. He said he had "an uneasy feeling from the start" on whether the student government had the authority to run a festival of "that magnitude." According to Levitt's report, more than $100,000 was spent by the Student Government Association on the May 1-3 weekend rock festival.

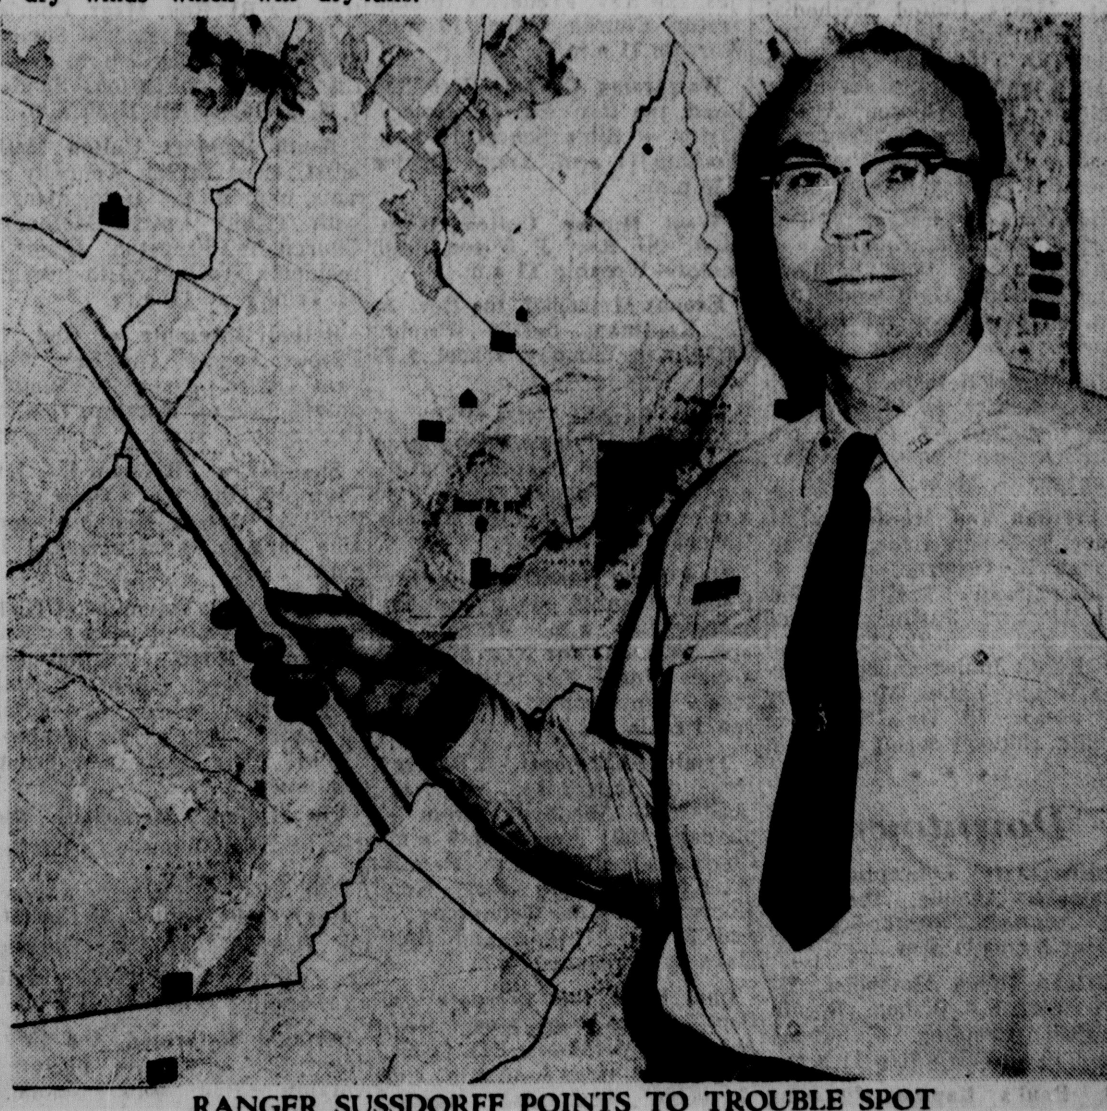

"I'm telling all of them (his medical staff for the weekend) that I don't have any of the kids' money," Abruzzi said. "If anyone expects to get paid, I'll just have to pay them myself."

INDICTMENT SOUGHT—A public prosecutor has asked for the indictment of Greek shipowner Stavros Niarchos on charges of fatally injuring his wife, Eugenia, 44, who died May 4 on her husband's private island of Spetsopoula. If Niarchos were convicted of the charge—which is more akin to manslaughter than murder—he could be jailed for up to 10 years. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

SAUGERTIES The new Christian Learning Center and Education Building of the Saugerties United Methodist Church, Washington Avenue and Post Street, is now being readied for the fall program of Christian Education starting Sept. 13.

The building is designed to accommodate children, youth and adults in eleven classroom areas, including a lounge and music room. Storage units and furniture for the rooms have already been ordered to complete the facilities for the Christian education program.

Under the guidance of 43 teachers, including work area chairmen and coordinators, child-care and classes will be held for pre-two year olds through adults. In order to accommodate those enrolled in the church school this year, the facilities of the parish house and all facilities in the sanctuary building will be used also.

Skylights are being installed around the main auditorium to permit pools of light to illuminate the hallways around the auditorium-theatre. Flower beds are being constructed in the hallways to bring the informality of flowers and green plants to the interior of the building. The audio-control booth and projection room will permit multiple use of the auditorium-theatre for movie projection, special lighting for concerts, dinners and fellowship gatherings.

Church, State Group Slates Meeting Monday

KINGSTON A meeting of the local committee of Americans United for Separation of Church and State will be held on Monday at the African Union Methodist Church, 255 East Strand Street at 7 p.m.

The organizational meeting of the committee was held on July 27, at which time Bishop S. B. Chappell was appointed chairman. Bishop Chappell is the first of his race in the nation to have received an appointment to this position. The meeting was addressed by Gaston D. Cogdell, Director of the Department of Organization of Americans United, on the topic, New York's Public Education and Religious Liberty Crisis. Mr. Cogdell, one of the country's leading authorities on religious freedom and church-state problems, is the author of a recent book, What Price Parochialism?

The meetings are open to the public and all interested persons may attend.

Say Guardsmen Fired Only Shots

No Snipers at Kent State

By LEE LEONARD

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—A staff member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest said Friday the FBI uncovered no evidence that any person "other than a Guardsman" fired a shot at Kent State University last May 4 when four students were killed.

The FBI conducted an intensive search for any evidence dealing with the possibility of the existence of a sniper. Commission investigator George V. Warren said, "including an investigation around the firing line for non-military bullets. The evidence indicates that there was no person other than a Guardsman who discharged a firearm on May 4, 1970."

Warren said 34 Ohio National Guardsmen were injured by rocks and other missiles while attempting to disperse a large group of students protesting jury investigation of the shoot-

U.S. involvement in the Indochina war.

The bodies of the four dead students and the nine wounded were found from 20 to 250 yards from where the shots were fired, Warren said the report showed.

Warren provided only select information from the FBI report for public consumption because of a pending grand jury investigation of the shoot-

Warren's testimony concluded three days of hearings. The Commission said it would hold a working seminar in Washington today. William W. Scranton, former Pennsylvania governor and chairman of the Commission, said no more public hearings were scheduled.

James C. Woodring Jr. of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, a student who said he was within 20 feet testified he saw a National Guard officer raise and then lower his hand, which contained a .45-caliber pistol, seconds before the firing began.

"In my opinion he gave some sort of a hand signal to fire," Woodring said. "Then he started firing point-blank into the ground."

Vermont Moves Against Mercury

BURLINGTON, VT. (UPI)—The Vermont Health Board has Thursday.

taken the first step toward enactment of a total ban of the discharge of deadly mercury into the environment which would even prohibit the burning of newspapers.

The proposed ban, which officials admit will be virtually unenforceable, is aimed at drawing public attention to the problem of waste disposal as well as at giving the board regulatory powers it now lacks.

"One purpose of the regulation would be to permit the board to stop obvious sources of mercury contamination," Health Commissioner Dr. Robert B. Aiken said Friday.

"The second purpose, just as worthwhile, is to tickle the consciences of an awful lot of citizens to examine just exactly what they are throwing away."

The proposed regulation, which comes up for final action following a public hearing Sept.

17, was approved by the board Thursday.

It prohibits the discharge of mercury or mercury compounds in any manner that will allow them to "enter into a sewer system, river, lake, pond or water system."

But the provision expected to cause problems bans the burning or vaporizing of any substance containing mercury. That would include newsprint, which uses mercury in its manufacture.

Aiken warned the board the regulation as proposed would prohibit the backyard burning of newspapers, but board members insisted upon it anyway.

"Nobody is going to get arrested for burning newspapers," said Health Board member Dunleavy. "Burning newspapers will not create that much of a problem, but it had to be included," Dunleavy said the prime objective of the regulation is to stop large industrial polluters.

Aiken also warned the state may have to prove that burning mercury-bearing materials known as "mercury fallout," causes and poses a health hazard in order to enforce the ban legally.

He admitted little is currently known about mercury fallout, and said the state must now step up its program of identifying and isolating the sources of mercury contamination.

The watchword of his department in enforcing the rule, Aiken said will be to "play it by ear."

State Unemployment at 4.8 PC; 405,000 Out, Most Since 1966

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—More workers were out of jobs in New York State last month than at any time in the past four years.

The 4.7 percent unemployment rate in July was the highest in the state since February of 1966 when it soared to 4.8 percent, the state labor department announced Friday. Summer unemployment has not been so severe since 1965 when the July figure also hit 4.8 percent.

Buffalo and the Niagara Frontier showed the worst unemployment rate in the state—6.3 percent. The department said 36,800 persons were out of work in Erie and Niagara Counties compared with 25,200 the same month a year ago and 29,200 the month before.

Statewide unemployment for July totaled 405,000, which was 35,000 higher than the figure for June and 85,000 above last year's figure.

In New York City, total unemployment for July was 178,000, or 5,900 more than the jobless figure for June of this year and 45,300 more than that reported in July of last year. The unemployment figure in the New York City area which includes Westchester, Rockland, Nassau and Suffolk counties represented 4.4 percent of the work force, compared with 3.3 percent a year ago and 4.1 percent in June.

The Albany, Schenectady, Troy area reported the lowest unemployment percentage in the state. The capital district reported 3.5 percent, compared with 3 percent a year ago and 3.2 percent in June.

Binghamton reported 5 percent compared with 3.9 percent a year ago. Syracuse 5 percent compared with 3.5 percent a year ago and Utica area 5.2 percent compared with 3.9 percent a year ago.

OPEN ESOPUS LANDFILL — The 26-acre Town of Esopus landfill at the Dr. Richard Gorden site at West Park will be officially in operation on Monday. Supervisor George H. Freer said the landfill will be open daily Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. and Saturdays 9 to 1 p. m. During the closed hours the landfill will be blocked off. The new town facility has been the focal point of many months of controversy despite approval of the site by several governmental agencies including the Hudson River Valley Commission, the County Planning Board, the Town Planning Board and the County Health Department. Making a final inspection are (L-R) Charles Schoonmaker, the custodian in the tractor; Charles Montafia, town justice; town supervisor Freer and John O. Beaver, town justice. Police Arrest 7 On Drug Charges

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz village police arrested three persons on two separate narcotics possession charges Friday, including a 19-year-old village teen-age girl who reportedly had 20 decks of heroin in her possession, according to reports by Patrolman Richard Thompson.

Leeds State Police, meanwhile, arrested two New York City men for possession of narcotics in the Greene County township of Lexington, Friday.

Sally Erdle, 19, of 311 Springtown Road, New Paltz, was nabbed by village police on Main Street early Friday afternoon and her possessions allegedly revealed 20 decks of heroin.

The girl was arraigned before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider on a charge of possession of a dangerous drug, sixth degree. She was committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail pending preliminary hearing Friday, it was reported.

Later Friday, village patrolmen arrested two out-of-county men after a routine search of a home on Route 32 revealed a quantity of marijuana and implements to administer narcotics.

Dennis M. Pike, 26, of North Main Street, Bethel, Vt., and Louis A. LaSalle, 21, of 380 East 146th Street, the Bronx, were arrested and charged with possession of a dangerous drug, sixth degree, and possession of implements used to administer narcotics.

Police reported that, upon entering the home with a search warrant, they noticed a "hashish pipe," a quantity of marijuana and several other pipes allegedly used to administer the drug. Further investigation revealed .60 grams of freshly cut marijuana, it was reported.

The two were arraigned before Schneider and bail was set at $250 for each charge. They were ordered to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of bail for a later court appearance Friday.

Leeds State Police arrested Harry Sunila, 22, of West 75th Street, New York City, and Phillip Barnoff, 23, of Westkill, Greene County, after their possessions revealed a quantity of marijuana and implements used to administer the drug, following a routine investigation of a home owned by Charles Corrado of Westkill.

Sunila was cited for possession of narcotics implements. Both were arraigned before Town of Lexington Justice Edwin Zinck and released after paying $25 fines.

Man Facing Court Date

KINGSTON

A 30-year-old Kingston man is scheduled for a preliminary court appearance today after his arrest by city police on an assault charge stemming from an incident in which he allegedly stabbed a woman in George's Tavern on Thomas Street early this morning.

Sam Butler, Jr. of 2 Post Street, Kingston allegedly stabbed Nina Marshall, also of 2 Post Street, following a brief altercation at the tavern.

The Marshall woman sustained an undetermined stab wound and was taken to Kingston Hospital where her condition was listed as satisfactory. The incident occurred at about 12:35 this morning and was investigated by city police.

2 Youths Hurt In Cycle Crash

TOWN OF HURLEY

A motorcycle skidded and went out of control while rounding a sharp curve on Vandhook Road in the Town of Hurley late Friday night, sending its driver and a passenger to Kingston Hospital, according to Ulster County Sheriff's Department deputies.

Daniel A. Mahoney, 24, of 14 Greenway Terrace, Forest Hills, the driver of the vehicle, sustained a fracture of the lower spine and was reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital today. His passenger, John Natale, 21, of RD 2, Box 610, New Paltz, sustained a fractured leg in the crash and is reported in satisfactory condition.

Sheriff's deputies said that the vehicle was traveling east on Vandhook Road when it failed to negotiate a sharp curve. The bike fell on its side on the roadway and skidded for more than 200 feet before ejecting its passengers, deputies stated.

Twins Win On Homer By Rookie

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer Tom Tischinski wriggled off Bill Rigney's hook. Reggie Smith shagged Wally Bunker's line and Ken Berry swallowed Ron Klimkowski's sinker.

The three fishermen figure they've never had it so good. Tischinski, Minnesota's light-hitting reserve catcher, smacked his first major league home run Friday night—before manager Rigney could pull him out of the lineup—to give the Twins a 4-3 victory over Washington.

Smith's 19th homer ruined Bunker's bid for his first pitching victory of the season, but the luckless Kansas City right-hander twirled three-hit ball for 11 innings before the Royals nipped Boston 2-1 on Bob Oliver's bases-loaded single in the 12th.

Klimkowski, a rookie relief specialist, got three outs on two pitches to Berry, nipping a Chicago rally and helping the New York Yankees down the White Sox 4-2.

In other American League games, Baltimore blanked California 5-0 as Dave McNally became the first 19-game winner in the majors; Cleveland trimmed Oakland 6-3 for Sam McDowell's 18th victory and Detroit topped Milwaukee 6-4.

"That was the best game I've ever pitched in my life," the injury-plagued veteran said. "And that includes 1964, when I won 19 games for Baltimore. I'm happy even if I didn't get the win. This proves I'm ready to go."

Yanks' rookie Steve Kline took a 4-1 lead into the sixth inning at Chicago but was yanked after Bill Melton's leadoff homer and singles by Ed Herrmann and Syd O'Brien.

Klimkowski came out of the bullpen and on his first pitch, Berry missed a bunt attempt and catcher Jake Gibbs picked Herrmann off second base. On the next pitch, Berry bounced into an inning-ending double play.

Singles by Berry and Duane Josephson in the ninth kayoed Klimkowski, but right fielder Jim Lytle threw Berry out at the plate on another hit by Gail Hopkins, enabling Lindy McDaniel to nail his 18th save.

McNally, backed by Brooks Robinson's three-run homer, scattered six hits in bringing his season mark to 19-7 as the Orioles breezed to their sixth straight victory.

Duke Sims drilled a three-run homer and rookie Roy Foster, Ted Uhlaender and Vada Pinson hit bases-empty blasts as the Indians overpowered the A's. Dean Chance, and rookie Rick Austin finished up for McDowell, 18-8, who left the game in the sixth after pulling a leg muscle.

Al Kaline's bases-loaded double and three Brewers errors keyed a four-run fourth-inning rally that carried the Tigers past Milwaukee. Southpaw Les Cain overcame a shaky start and notched his 12th victory in 16 decisions.

Namath on Trial In The Yale Bowl

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The big question about Joe Namath today is not does he or doesn't he, but will he or won't he?

The question concerns his playing in Sunday's National Football League exhibition game between New York's cross-town rivals, the Jets and the Giants, who meet here in Yale Bowl in the annual Albie Booth Memorial Game.

Expected to attract 70,000 fans and provide the stage for a rehearsal of their first regular season meeting in history on Nov. 1, the game now has also become the setting for what might be Namath's debut as a quarterback whose main concern is the Giants' pass rush.

Namath, AWOL from the Jet camp the first two weeks of training, reported last Tuesday and said he was being plagued mentally because football no longer was his main concern.

And he added: "I don't think I can play." Those startling words, reflecting Namath's fears his knees would not stand up to the rigors of another season, have made this more than the usual pre-season for the shaggy-haired quarterback with the million-dollar arm and dime-store knees.

At the top camps earlier in the week, Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets did not rule out Namath's playing against the Giants, but did emphasize that "it would be foolish to play him to win" and said if he played, it should be considered a bonus.

The best guess is that Namath, with only four days work behind him, will not see any significant action, but will be in there at least for a series of two—both as a psychological factor for his teammates and because 70,000 fans have purchased tickets in anticipation of seeing him.

In exhibition games in the NFL Friday night, Sonny Jurgensen struck with two early scoring passes and cornerback Mike Bass intercepted for another first quarter touchdown to spur the Washington Redskins to a 21-13 pre-season victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

In less than three periods, Jurgensen completed 16 of 22 passes for 193 yards. O.J. Simpson scored on a 51-yard pass from Dan Darragh and a 2-yard plunge and Mac Anderson added TDs on a 56-yard run and 63-yard pass, as the Buffalo Bills overpowered the Philadelphia Eagles, 35-30.

Simpson, who gained 77 yards on 17 carries and caught three passes for 71 yards, left the game with a minor ankle injury in the third period.

Sikes started with an early birdie in a bid to overtake Casper, but then faded. He said, "I played exactly as I did in the first round except I didn't hole any putts and I hit two bad iron shots."

At 19, Hall has only one challenge in the 400-meter individual medley—the clock. Friday night in the national AAU championships, he nearly three seconds better than the world record of 4:33.90 he set in the AAU meet last year.

Hall's home is Garden Grove, Calif.—as his sun-bleached hair attests—but he swims for Doc Counsilman at Indiana University, the reigning NCAA team champion. This spring, he became the first swimmer ever to win four NCAA indoor titles in a single meet.

The 6-foot, 160-pound Hall had a simple explanation for his world record: "I just swam the fastest splits of my life." His opening legs Friday—59.74 in the butterfly and 1:07.71 in the backstroke—drew him clear of seven other finalists.

A capacity crowd at Los Angeles Swim Stadium roared when each split was posted and shouted encouragement as he stroked smoothly through the breaststroke and backstroke.

What's his limit? "God only knows," Hall said. The other three individual races Friday belonged to Hall's Indiana teammate, Mark Spitz, in the 100-yard freestyle, and to a pair of schoolmates at Ruth League contest, John Guess Long Beach, Calif., Milikan and Kevin Coughlin pitched the High Ann Simmons and Susie 3-hitters. There were no extra base hits.

Kiwanis defeated the American Legion, 8 to 4, in a five-inning American Division Babe and, to a pair of schoolmates at Ruth League contest, John Guess Long Beach, Calif., Milikan and Kevin Coughlin pitched the High Ann Simmons and Susie 3-hitters. There were no extra base hits.

by Greg Rios. Dross wild-pitched two of the runs home. Narum, meanwhile, was turning in another classic pitching stint. It was a thing of beauty to watch him outsmart the Florida hitters—a tough crew. He mixed curves and changeups and occasionally reached back for that good fast one—a weapon he goes only in the clutch these days. Some of the Comets, who came to town with pretty fair batting averages looked mighty foolish trying to outguess the Old Fox.

The only time Narum's shutout was threatened, Skip Lyons uncorked a clothesline throw from right field to trap a runner between third and home and that was it.

The Braves, meanwhile, had luck going their way against Dross, an effective performer who had to warm up extra long because of tightness in his pitching shoulder.

In the fourth, Schaeffer was safe on shortstop Ray Hernandez' error, Dross struck out John Carter, but walked Pete Watzka. Greg Rios then blasted a wicked liner off Dross' shins. Second baseman Ed Lekis retrieved the ball. It was too late to catch Rios at first, so he fired badly to third, as Schaeffer scored and Watzka took third.

Dross wild pitched Watzka home, walked Jerry Hawkins and Horton and later Rios scored the third run of the inning on Dross' second wild pitch.

There it was—all in one inning—a hit, three walks, a throwing error and two wild pitches. The issue was never in doubt after that, as Narum picked up steam as he went along. His curve was dancing and the fast ball humming, as he knocked off the last nine batters in succession.

Ray Jarosz singled with one out for Florida in the fourth but Horton, playing first instead of his usual outfield post, turned the wicked smash into a beautiful 3-6-3, first to short to first double play.

Dross, who collected two of the three Comets hits, got his second in the fifth, only after Peter Watzka made a sensational grab of a shot in the hole. Watzka was off balance when he threw to first, but it was the fielding gem of the game. Lyons made his second excellent play in right field in the top of the sixth when he flagged down a hard liner by Bruce Bell.

SIDEBARS: Lyons hurt his leg running to first in the bottom of the sixth and was replaced by Moore in the last inning. The latter promptly turned a solid infield smash by Barney Kunert into a putout at first, with Narum covering neatly. With Moore rested and ready, the Braves are in good shape to end the series Sunday at Florida, where Kunert and his tantalizing southpaw curves will be waiting for them. If a fifth game is needed, it will be played Tuesday night at Dietz. The crowd? Well, the usual 95 was on hand.

FATAL FLAW — New York Mets Shortstop Bud Harrelson watches the ball go by him as he commits his first error in 55 games, off a grounder hit by leadoff Reds' batter Pete Rose in the first inning of game at Shea Stadium Friday night. Koosman Kools Red Machine

By TOM SALADINO Associated Press Sports Writer

In the driver's seat for a change, New York Mets' left-hander Jerry Koosman pulled back on the throttle and switched gears to perfection, steering the Big Red Machine into a temporary skid.

Koosman, a 17-game winner last year and winner of two World Series games for the world champion Mets, completed his first start since June 25th, stalling the Cincinnati Reds on seven hits in New York's 4-1 triumph Friday night. It was the Reds' third straight loss and their West lead dwindled to a still-fat 10 games over Los Angeles.

Claude Osteen of the Dodgers won his fourth straight over Pittsburgh at home, stopping the Pirates 2-1 on a seven-hitter, sending the Mets to within 1 1/2 games of the East Division-leading Pirates.

In other National League games, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 5-1, Montreal tripped Atlanta 6-4, St. Louis trounced San Diego 14-8 and Philadelphia and Houston split a doubleheader, the Phillies winning the opener 9-3 and the Astros the nightcap 9-1.

In the American League, Baltimore blanked California 5-0, New York topped Chicago 4-2, Cleveland whipped Oakland 6-3, Minnesota edged Washington 4-3, Kansas City nipped Boston 2-1 in 12 innings and Detroit downed Milwaukee 6-4.

Koosman, 8-6, but plagued by a sore arm said, "My arm feels good. I was changing speeds of my curve very well. When I reached back for the fast ball occasionally, it was there."

The run off Koosman was unearned when Bud Harrelson booted a fourth inning grounder, his second error of the game, ending a record-tying 54 games of errorless ball by the Mets. Shortstop, Dave Marshall keyed two Mets' rallies with a single and double, helping the Reds' to their third straight loss.

Osteen, 13-11, had a run of 46 scoreless innings against Pittsburgh at Dodger Stadium before the Pirates got a fifth-inning run on successive two-out singles by Matty Alou, Dave Cash and Roberto Clemente.

The Cubs missed a chance to pick up ground on the Pirates but still remain only four games back in third place as they fell to Giants' right-hander Frank Reberger's six-hitter.

San Francisco pounded out 10 hits and all five runs in 5 2/3 innings off Chicago starter Bill Hands, 14-11. Willie McCovey drove in one run and scored another for the Giants.

The Expos rolled to their fourth straight triumph behind the home-run hitting of Bob Bailey, Rusty Staub and John Bateman. Carl Morton, who needed eighth-inning relief help, picked up his 15th victory. Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman homered for the Braves while Hank Aaron had a pair of RBIs, sending the right fielder into eighth place on the all-time list with 1,829.

The Cardinals exploded for 15 hits, getting three apiece from winning pitcher Nelson Briles and Lou Brock and a homer and single by Joe Torre in belting the Padres.

Don Wilson tossed a three-hitter for the Astros in the nightcap with Jim Wynn connecting for a homer while Jimunning took the opener for the Phils, scattering 10 hits as Don Money slugged a three-run homer.

MICHAEL BOLAND — PITCHER

MICHAEL BOLAND — SLUGGER

Boland Is OLL Leader

BOICEVILLE — Michael Boland has joined Joe Seymour of the Hurley Little League as the No. 1 pitcher and hitter in their respective leagues. Boland played in the Ontario Little League for the Mets.

Boland's pitching statistics are impressive. In 37 innings, he struck out 110 opponents, while compiling a record of 5 wins and one defeat. He allowed only 18 runs for a superb 0.32 earned run average and had fine control, yielding only 27 walks.

Young Boland also set a league record and achieved absolute perfection when he struck out all 18 batters in one game.

Not too many opposing pitchers were able to get Michael out at the plate. He batted a robust .632 for the season. In 57 trips to the plate, he knocked out 36 hits. Among these hits were five home runs, four triples and 17 doubles.

The 12-year-old right hander played in every game over a four-year span in the Ontario League and had a lifetime batting average of .477, one of the highest ever in the county.

Michael added another first to the record book of the league when he stroked the first base hit in three years for the Ontario Little League All Star team in a game against Kerhonkson. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boland of Shandaken.

Chief Crazy Legs Ready

MONTICELLO — Chief Crazy Legs, a reported $75,000 purchase in 1969, who blossomed into a free for all star in 1970, will make his Monticello debut tonight when he takes part in the second leg of the Mighty M's Mid-Summer Pacing Championships Series.

The five-year-old son of Waltespen Cer and Success Peggy has campaigned with great success at the New York Metropolitan tracks this season. He recently set a new career mark of 1:59.1 and has earned more than $40,000 to date. More importantly, the brown stallion has shown his heels to such outstanding pacers as Fulla Napoleon, Horton Hanover and Laverne Hanover.

Chief Crazy Legs has scored three victories from 14 starts from the combination of trainer Frank Mule, owners Five K Stable of Oceanside, N. Y., and transplanted Drummondville, Quebec driver Norman Dauplaise.

Dauplaise, former Monticello regular will be returning to the Catskills to drive Chief Crazy Leg. in the $8,000 feature.

Despite Chief Crazy Legs' impressive credentials, lusty competition is expected to come from such fine pacers as Key-stone Aaron who will have the advantage of the rail position. Adios Wilton, Byegone, Miami Beach and Argo Time.

Keystone Aaron and Adios Wilton scored Smart wins in the first leg of the series last week, and both are regarded as likely choices to repeat in the 11-horse field.

Keystone Aaron, from the powerful Billy Haughton barn, took charge of his race at the half, and with Ed Dunnigan catch-driving, breezed to his tenth victory in 20 starts. The time for the mile was 2:01.3.

The bay colt by Thorpe Hanover — out of Adios Elite — has earned nearly $60,000 in 1970. Adios Wilton, Levi Harner's strong candidate for "The Monticello Goshen Chapter Harness Writer's Aged Pacer of the Year Award," easily handled a field of seven in his division, scoring a 3½ length gate to wire triumph in 2:01.4.

In his first start after a two-month layoff, finished a sound second to Adios Wilton in the series' opener. John Patte Patterson Sr. owns, trains and drives the 5-year-old son of Bye Bye Bird.

Bucky Day's four-year-old, Miami Beach, already has six wins to his credit this campaign, including a 1:59.4 at Foxboro. The fleet gelding has won 11 of 14 starts, and New York bred spoils have assigned him elsewhere this week, but he is expected to return to the competition next Saturday.

A $8,000 purse has been set for the seventh event, with all 100 with four triumphs in 15 starts, including a life time 750 finale to be raced Sept. 5.

Army Slates Initial Grid Practice Monday

WEST POINT — Nineteen lettermen, including 14 who started in last year's season finale against Navy, will be among the candidates reporting Monday (Aug. 29) when Army football Coach Tom Cahill officially opens the practice doors on the 1970 season. More than 100 players are expected to be on hand for the first practice session.

The Cadets will have just three weeks to prepare for their season's opener Sept. 12 against Holy Cross at Michie Stadium. The Army coaching staff will take advantage of a two-day session for the first two weeks, but will have the afternoons only available to them once classes resume on Sept. 8.

While Army figures to be bigger, deeper and more experienced than it was a year ago in compiling a 4-5-1 record, standing in the way will be one of the toughest schedules any Army team has ever had to face.

Following the inaugural with Holy Cross, the Cadets must face the likes of Baylor, Nebraska, Tennessee, Notre Dame, Virginia, Penn. State, Boston College, Syracuse and Oregon before meeting arch-rival Navy in the traditional grand finale.

"We were quite pleased with the results of spring practice, particularly with the poise displayed by the newcomers (mostly Plebes), yet we know, too, there's still plenty of work to be done," he commented. "There are holes yet to be filled before our starting units are set," he added.

One area where Coach Cahill figures to spend a lot of time these next three weeks is the left side of the offensive line, where graduation claimed three starters.

A pair of converted tight ends may wind up with the vacant guard and tackle posts. Gregg True, 6-3, 220 pounds, was used at three positions during the spring drills, and could open the season at left guard. The same goes for Len Robinson, another junior who at 6-4, 220, has good size for a tackle.

Senior Wes Blaine, an understudy for the past two seasons, seems to have the inside track for the center spot, but will have to hold off the challenge of newcomer Cliff Volz.

The Cadets launched the 1969 season without a proven quarterback, but can look to two signal-callers who earned their stripes under fire last fall. Either Bernie Wall, the starter a year ago, or much-improved Bob Mohn figure to call the signals on Sept. 12. There's also a sophomore—Dink Atha, a southpaw, who enjoyed a fine spring and displayed a definite Kiwanis.

ability to throw the ball during schedule, returns along with Dusty Triplett. Hines, who topped the Plebes in scoring and rushing both, already has been compared with recent standouts Charlie Jarvis and Lynn Moore.

Public Land Sale Pending

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has secretly directed his Cabinet members and agency heads to prepare to sell off 10 per cent of the nation's 763 million acres of public land.

In an "administratively confidential" White House memo dated July 24, the President opened the way for the biggest unloading of federally owned lands in recent history. Fortunately, word of the impending move leaked out to a handful of conservation-minded members of Congress and the plan met with stiff resistance within several of the federal agencies themselves.

It now appears that the total number of acres disposed of may be whittled down to six million — still a gigantic sale of public real estate.

The President's memo, obtained by this column, ordered the highest government executives to identify and report to the White House "10 per cent of the property now held which is least utilized and has the lowest priority for retention."

"This report should be accompanied by a detailed plan for excessing (disposing of) these properties," the memo said. In addition, the President asked for a preliminary list by Aug. 15 and a complete list by Sept. 30 of all public property "ranked according to priority for retention."

National parks and forests are excluded from the sell-off by law, but there are still 28 million acres of national wildlife refuges and many millions more of public domain land used for recreation.

When one Capitol Hill conservationist, Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., heard of the planned sell-off, he exploded: "I thought they were too busy plundering Alaska, to pull something like this."

Similar reactions from others and bureaucratic foot dragging in the Cabinet departments and agencies have sent White House aides scurrying to assure key officials and congressmen that the land disposal will not be such a wholesale auction after all.

Nixon's emissaries also sought to win over members of Congress with talk of the fatter tax rolls created by putting the land in private hands.

Other doubters were given the argument that airports, health facilities, schools and states wanting park property would get first crack at the land.

Conservationists were assured the wildlife refuges would be safe and that all money from the sell-off would go into conservation projects.

Both the sell-off and the lobbying effort are headed by Bryce Harlow, the trusted Nixon aide who is chairman of the administration's "Property Review Board."

Note: The last effort by Nixon to produce such a list was in February. It foundered because of balky officials in the executive branch. In his new and far more ambitious classified order, the President tongue-lashed the agency heads for this previous "unsatisfactory" showing. Yet the preliminary deadline of Aug. 15 has passed and some of the agencies have not yet submitted their "excess" lists.

Friend in High Place

Colossal networks like CBS seem to be wondering public to be locked in awful combat with the Nixon White House these days — titans and giants thundering in classic political battle.

But when it comes to those little personal favors that change the course of a family's life, the network and White House are suddenly disclosed as part of the same rich and powerful establishment.

When John Doe's son is shipped off to Fort Riley, Kansas, John Doe Jr. goes. But when the same fate seemed imminent for Spec. 4 William C. Paley, 22, son of the chairman of CBS, the transfer dissolved. And a call from the White House quickly landed young Paley in a job next door to the Pentagon.

Paley's father, William S., after hedging, conceded to this column that he told an old friend now in government (he refused to identify him) of young Bill's disappointment at the Fort Riley transfer.

The young serviceman had hoped for a job in which he could use his camera experience gained during 11 months as a combat photographer in Vietnam. He feared there would be no such opportunity at Fort Riley.

Either Paley's friend is a White House aide himself or he contacted the White House on young Bill's behalf. In any case, a member of the President's staff called John Broger, the Pentagon's Information Chief, and advised him the son of the CBS chairman was available.

Broger is no fool. He found young Bill a spot.

Paley himself then called Broger, although Paley claims he can't remember why. Both contend it was after young Paley got the job, and Broger says he recalls Paley told him to treat his son "just like everybody else."

The network head insists his government pal is "not at the seat of power" and "the thing was done on a personal basis." Broger, of course, pooh-poohs the suggestion that the White House or Paley's call put pressure on him.

The fact remains that the establishment took care of Paley's capable and likeable son despite all the public hullabaloo about network and White House feuding. Meanwhile, some John Doe Jr., whose father is just an ordinary mortal, is taking his lumps in Fort Riley.

New Revolutionary Front

Angela Davis, 26, the black militant Communist who was ousted as a philosophy instructor at the University of California in Los Angeles, has been charged with murder in connection with the courthouse shooting that left four men, including a judge, dead.

The Black Panther Party newspaper of Los Angeles told of a meeting in Watts in June at which Miss Davis "sentenced" various "pigs", including all establishment judges, to be "revolutioned to death." She is being hunted by the FBI on a federal warrant as a fugitive from justice.

The shootout cost the lives of two black convicts and an accomplice, Jonathan Jackson, 17, the gunbearer brother of a man awaiting trial with two others for the killing of a white prison guard. Miss Davis had been working closely with Jonathan in defense of the three accused men.

One of the would-be escapees shouted during the break, "We are the revolutionaries." That was the first tip that, to the radical movement, the attempted breakout has become a revolutionary milestone. It was a bloody step in the attempt to make the nation's courthouses the battleground for a form of guerrilla warfare aimed at freeing "political prisoners," both black and white.

It will be remembered that one of the original 10 demands of the Black Panthers was the immediate release of all Black Panthers on the ground that they were primarily political prisoners. The breakout from Soledad prison in San Rafael was a first attempt to make this revolutionary demand true.

Youth Employment

It is a good thing that the school fall term will be opening soon. For the first time in nine years, available summer jobs for school students and youngsters seeking to begin their working careers dropped. It was one evidence of the high rates of unemployment for youngsters 16 to 21.

For all such youths, the unemployment rate rose to 16 per cent, highest in six years. For black youths, the rate hit 30 per cent. This compared with an unemployment rate of 5 per cent among all workers, highest in five years.

High as these unemployment figures are, and deplorable, there is a bright side. Total employment among 16 to 21 year-olds leveled at 11.2 million. That is a great many profitably employed in an increasing labor force.

Youths were the first casualties of a slowdown in business. High minimum wages, which must be paid beginners where required together with the fact that older workers hung onto their jobs, and the reluctance of employers to teach new workers at their expense, combined to reduce the opportunities for youths. Better luck another summer, and go back to school and add to your qualifications.

Domestic Warfare

WASHINGTON — The rise in crime and the new terrorism in America have produced the most challenging issue of our times. People are distraught because authorities seem unable to cope with the acts of violence, including bombings, that are taking place in cities large and small throughout the country. National anti crime legislation has been widely supported, but apparently there are many other things which are going to be necessary besides action by the federal government.

The states and cities will have to strengthen their laws with respect to the sale of explosives to prevent their being used for criminal purposes. But, even more, it may become desirable to increase the penalties which hitherto have been imposed on those who commit such crimes. Incidentally, Governor Ronald Reagan of California, has just signed into law a bill setting the penalty of death or life imprisonment without parole — at the discretion of the jury — when anyone is convicted in that state of willfully and maliciously exploding a "destructive device" causing "great bodily harm" to another person.

The subject of gun control has been widely debated, but crime is not going to be prevented simply by limiting the availability of weapons. Prompt trials and the imposition of long-term sentences are even more important. One of the weaknesses of our court system is the ability of the accused and his counsel to delay trials indefinitely. Ways must be found to bring criminals to justice more quickly than is being done today.

A source of trouble which has been too much neglected is the unrestricted way in which extremist organizations have been allowed to operate. Their leaders speak openly about "revolution," and this is supposed to be merely "free speech." But the words often are accompanied by direct threats to the safety of citizens and sometimes are followed by disturbances even in the courtrooms. The episode in California — when a group planned and actually tried to carry out the escape of convicts by holding a judge as hostage and then killing him — is an example of the lengths to which terrorism has gone.

This is but one instance of the guerrilla-type warfare being waged by militant groups across the country. Policemen are the targets of snipers, who fire from buildings and then escape, often with the help of others in the area. Ambushes are set. One officer was killed and seven were injured in Omaha by an explosion rigged to go off in a vacant building when they answered a call for help. Bombings of police headquarters and other government buildings are becoming commonplace.

Another serious aspect of the problem is the manner in which the police are being regarded throughout the country. A damaging propaganda against authority, with charges of "police brutality" and oppression, has been carried on by radicals. Not only the police but the National Guard, when called upon to help control riots, are under attack so that a substantial segment of public opinion actually believes that all policemen and national guardsmen are irresponsible and "trigger happy."

The real question, however, is not who fired the first shot in the excitement and panic of a riot, but who incited the disturbance. The crime begins in the instigation of the disorder itself because the lives of people who are in the immediate vicinity become endangered. It is being conceded now that in the case of Kent State, insults hurled at the national guardsmen by the demonstrators played a part in intensifying emotions before the firing of shots. Similar instances have occurred elsewhere as the National Guard and police have been taunted by mobs.

There has been a tendency to be indifferent to many of the expressions advocating terroristic tactics that have been made by persons either accused of crime or sympathetic with those who have been involved in melees in the streets in which innocent citizens have been killed or injured. The casualty list is getting larger and larger.

The American people, when they go to the polls in November, will have all this in mind as they vote for state and local officials. To a certain extent, too, they will reveal their discontent with the incumbent members of Congress who are seeking reelection. There is a growing belief that the federal government can do more than it has done to deal with the unrest and to break down the terrorism and punish those who incite disorders.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Let's put up a 'Men Only' sign and maybe we can pick up some of that Women's Lib business!"

Going Rough, Viet Foe Admits

By RAY CROMLEY
NBA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It is common and natural to talk of our difficulties in Vietnam. It is easy to forget the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have their own very serious internal problems.

This reporter has just read the most pessimistic assessment of the Vietnam war he has ever seen.

It was contained in a directive on how the war is to be fought in 1970 and for the foreseeable future, written by the Central Office for South Vietnam (the Communist high command in the south) and directed to all provincial, municipal, and military region party committees. Written in November, 1969, it was only recently captured.

This "Resolution" was not meant to be discouraging. On almost every page it boasts of the great defeats handed the Americans and South Vietnamese. The crumbling of the Saigon government is confidently predicted. Final victory is hailed.

But in directing party committees on their future tasks and away from their mistakes, it outlines what has gone wrong in the past and what is still out of kilter.

What has happened is that "we (Communists) placed too much reliance" on winning the war through military victories; "we failed" to motivate the masses — to get close to the people and get them on "our" side.

The political struggle was neglected. Propagandization of the party line has not been carried on with diligence. Party leadership has deteriorated.

The party committees have become "divorced" from the guerrillas and the guerrillas "disassociated" from the "masses."

Such a situation has caused the guerrillas to be easily repulsed by the enemy.

Regular army commanders have looked down on the guerrillas and refused to help them and to work with them.

The North Vietnamese command "at each level only takes care of its . . . subordinate forces and ignores . . . lower forces," especially the guerrilla forces with which it is supposed to be co-operating.

Things have gotten so bad among North Vietnamese mainline troops, says the document, that there is a tendency for them to disperse when faced with difficulties . . . not for the purpose of joining . . . with the guerrillas in order to attack the enemy anew, but rather for the purpose of shunning contact with the enemy. Such a tendency causes the main forces engaged in countering enemy sweeps to be easily decimated (defeated) and exposed to enemy psywar (psychological warfare) activities . . .

The document implies the Viet Cong have become too dependent on modern weapons shipped in from Hanoi . . . They should instead "manage to obtain their ammunition and weapons by capturing from the enemy, or to produce on the spot for their own requirement."

This "separation from the people" in the communities in which the guerrillas and North Vietnamese operate has caused a loss of combat effectiveness. It has made it very difficult to recruit new men and has made "many difficulties" in "messing and billeting" troops.

As a result of our (Communist) political weaknesses, the enemy "can move right back in and recapture areas whenever our forces withdraw."

None of this should be taken as evidence Hanoi is about to give up the struggle. On the contrary, the evidence is that a decision has been made to continue indefinitely, regardless of the Paris talks.

What is indicated, however, is that things have not been going at all well for the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. There is internal dissension. There is a shortage of weapons and equipment. The political struggle, on which all else rests, is not progressing well. They have not gained that support of the people necessary for success.

Reading this document in perspective and comparing it with similar documents written by Asian Communist leaders in the past, one comes to the conclusion the Communist high command for South Vietnam is saying that the district and village underground organization (the heart of the insurgency) has deteriorated so badly that it must be rebuilt from the ground up — a process that normally takes years.

If this analysis is correct, then Vietnamization, with all its fumbling and setbacks, may have time to succeed, and President Nixon will be enabled to continue his steady withdrawal of American troops through this year and next and well into 1972.

English Teens Feted on Saugerties Exchange Visit

ISLAND HOPPING IN HUDSON

SAUGERTIES English teenagers enjoy a boat trip on the Hudson River off Saugerties as their three-week stay nears an end. Eighteen girls, ages 14 to 18 accompanied by six adult leaders arrived in Saugerties Aug. 7 as the second step in an exchange program arranged by the Saugerties Rotary Club in cooperation with the British Teachers Overseas Association. Earlier this summer 24 boys from Saugerties Interact Club, Rotary sponsored high school service organization spent three weeks in England. During their stay, the girls have visited West Point, IBM Kingston, Howe Caverns, Catskill Game Farm and some journeyed to Niagara Falls. On Thursday they participated in the guided walking tour of the Old Stockade area in Kingston. They were received at Governor Rockefeller's office in Albany and had a tour of the capitol. Invitations have been many including being guests of the Saugerties Rotary Club at the dinner meeting Tuesday night. The Hudson River outing included a picnic at Kruger's Island. Boat power was supplied by Terry Staples, Henry Eberhardt and Herman Snyder. The girls will be returning to England on Monday taking away some fond memories and general impressions gathered in the Hudson Valley. They expressed a fondness for the mountains and the friendliness of their hosts. However, two gourmet standards of American teenagers got a no vote—corn on the cob and pizza were not among their favorite things on this side of the Atlantic. The English contingent of the exchange program was under the leadership of Syd Buckle, a teacher from Stockton-on-Tees in the northern part of England. When the Saugerties boys traveled to England in late June they were accompanied by William Hyes, assistant principal of Saugerties High School and Ron Deak, Rotary Interact chairman. The one distaff member of that earlier trip was Suzanne Deak, daughter of the group leader who went to Ger-many to visit relatives while the boys of Interact toured England. They started their visit in London and spent the balance of the vacation with English families in Northumberland.

Youth in the News

Maybe it is hard to tell from the weather but fall is coming. The surest indication is the report of upcoming campus activities slated to start with the new semester in September.

Cadet Larry Frederick Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Flowers Jr., 61½ Downs Street will be among the carefully-selected cadets who will comprise this year's training cadre at The Citadel.

The cadre will report to the military college on Aug. 23 for a week's intensive training before freshmen cadets arrive. Members of the cadre make up schedules and arrangements for receiving, processing, and training the plebes who will arrive Sept. 1. The cadre then conducts specialized training for the new cadets of the freshmen class.

During "Plebe Week" the freshmen will undergo instruction in drill, college regulations, honor system, traditions of The Citadel, and other training necessary to assist each new cadet in acquainting himself well in the classroom or on the parade ground.

The freshmen will live initially in designated sections of the four barracks away from other cadets. Their cadremen reside nearby to facilitate overseeing the instruction of the freshmen. The plebes and the cadre will join the other members of the Corps of Cadets at the conclusion of this phase of their training.

Cadet Flowers is a rising senior at the military college. He will hold the rank of captain within the South Carolina Corps of Cadets and will serve as regimental physical training officer.

The Dean's List student is a member of the Gymnastic Club and was elected by his fellow students to be a member of the 1970-71 Honor Committee, which is one of the highest honors to which a cadet can aspire. Flowers is a physical education major enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program at The Citadel.

Bonnie Greenspan of Kingston has been named as a student dormitory advisor at Ithaca College for the coming '70-'71 academic year.

A student advisor is chosen from among the College's sophomores, juniors and seniors. The selections are made on the basis of college involvement, academic competence, enthusiasm and cooperation. Each student advisor acts as a counselor for between 30-50 students.

Miss Greenspan, a junior in the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greenspan, Valentine Court, Kingston. She is a '68 graduate of Kingston High School.

Freshmen students meanwhile are preparing for their debut on campus. John G. Gilday, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Gilday of 275 West Chestnut Street, Kingston will be entering St. John Fisher College, Rochester as a freshman this fall. A Kingston High School graduate, he plans a pre-dental major at SJFC.

William A. Grant of 63 Clinton Avenue and Harold Wynkoop of 1076 Decker Street will be among the 435 students entering Western New England College, Springfield, Mass. this year.

Meanwhile honors for the past semester's work are still being reported.

Eight Kingston area residents, students at State University College at Potsdam, have been named to the President's Honor List at the college. Each of these students received an academic average of 3.25 or better of a possible 4.0 for the second semester.

They are: Joanne Brudniak, 51 Kingston Terrace, Kingston, a freshman music education major; Catherine Drummond, 42 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, a senior music major; Karen Lancer, 28 Merritt Avenue, Kingston, a freshman geology major; Patricia Mills, Ricky Road, Stone Ridge, a freshman history major; Nancy J. Rhymer, 32 Prince Street, Kingston, a freshman music education major; Natalie Robertshaw, Route 1, Rosendale, a sophomore; Mary Swenson Box 13, Accord, a junior English major; and Rose Zucker, 69 Wilson Avenue, Kingston, a sophomore.

"TIMETABLE FOR THE COLLEGE BOUND"—

It's that time of year again to start reluctantly getting things together for heading back to class. Older teens are making preparations to head for the college campus, and many teens are wondering if their plans for college days are proceeding as smoothly as this year's back-to-school rituals.

● Junior High—This is not too early to begin your college plans. If you and your parents think that college will be in your future, begin investigating, in a general way, what is available. Read college catalogs, and learn the general requirements for entrance, including the special requirements of any which particularly interest you. Keep the required courses in mind, and be sure to discuss them with your parents and guidance counselor in planning what courses you will take in high school. (This can save you the unpleasant surprise to "make up" courses in your senior year!)

This is the time, too, to discuss the subject of college costs with your parents. They may not have noticed how college costs have skyrocketed in the past decade—and how much higher they are likely to go before you graduate. Answers such as "Oh, we'll get a loan," or "Your grades are good, you'll get a scholarship," just won't cut it. Loans are getting more and more difficult to obtain, and there's an awful lot of scholarships don't cover—assuming your grades hold up. (Often, with the more difficult subjects and widening interests, high school grades get worse instead of better.) The only definite way you and your parents can make sure you will be able to afford college is to make regular deposits in a savings plan. If you are going to need financial aid, start investigating the available channels. There are organizations dedicated to matching deserving students with the countless scholarships available, but they need time to work on each student's individual qualifications and problems.

● Ninth Grade—If you're having real trouble with the subjects chosen for your college preparatory course, you might want to consider some other future plans, such as a career or vocational school after graduation. Consider whether you are giving your subjects all the time and effort that you can, and whether you are really interested in learning. Your attitude can mean more than your aptitude in your mastery of these more mature subjects. Be realistic, but don't give up too easily.

● Tenth Grade—From the colleges you have been considering, choose the dozen or so that interest you most. Include three or four that you are certain you can get into. Let them represent a cross-section of the many types available—local, far-away, public, private, large, small, four-year, junior, famous, and little-known. Write these colleges for information and catalogs. Compare their requirements with the courses you're taking again, and consider any adjustment advisable with your counselor.

● Eleventh Grade—By this time, you ought to have your list of colleges narrowed to about a half-dozen. Check out the Advanced Placement Tests. If the colleges you are interested in require college board tests, now is the time to begin these. Your grades this year will receive very close attention by college admissions boards.

● Twelfth Grade—Have your list of colleges down to four or five, including at least one that you can be certain of being admitted to. Make a check list, including final application dates, tests required, application fees, and other requirements. Remember that colleges won't be favorably impressed with a student who puts everything off until the deadline—or afterward! Begin filling in your applications and mailing them in October. That's THIS October, all right; last-minute planning, interviews and tests will consume more time than you think!

Any student—regardless of grades, finances, background, or other factor—can attend some college. One of the secrets of finding the right one for you is early planning and careful preparation. In a way, your plans for this year in high school are college plans as well!

Austrian Sojourn Full of Charm

The charming sights and sounds of Old World Austria continue to weave a romantic spell for Amy Elwyn, American Field Service International Scholarship student in Frohn-leiten, Styria, Austria.

Amy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dean Elwyn of Woodstock, left for Austria early last month with a group of American students. Since that time she has been traveling and living with her Austrian family—Mutti and Vati Thumer and their daughter Sigrid and son Klaus and Umi, their grandmother who cooks many of the delicious meals.

Describing her new home, Amy writes, "It's just the type of house you are looking for—large and simple. There are many plants inside and many books, paintings and classical records."

Music has played an important part in her Austrian visit. The flickering lights from the altars and renaissance chandeliers was the only illumination for a Strauss-Mozart concert in one of the very old churches—"All so beautiful it made me cry at last month with a group of most."

The 14th century Rabinstein Castle was the background for another unforgettable evening of music of Hayden, Schubert and Strauss.

"History here means so much more than a piece of paper," Amy wrote. "It is an incredible feeling to know you are standing where the Roman soldiers passed."

Amy has often stopped twice to look at the unusual such as the new Volkswagen parked under the 300-year-old stone archway; gay provincial dances in the public square and walled courtyards where one may stop and enjoy beautifully tended gardens and window boxes overflowing with blooms.

Amy is learning many other things while she is improving her German. She is learning more English but with British and Austrian accents. Berry picking is a means to very delicious desserts so she fills her basket. The big meal of the day at noon takes care of the healthy appetites each day brought on by hiking, swimming, biking, dancing and the walks to and from the village. Dancing takes on a new dimension in lovely Austrian dirndls and Amy has been shopping for beautiful materials to bring home.

While traveling to Austria, Amy is sure that she managed to sleep only seven hours in the three days and with the time change may even have lost a day. But she has breathlessly been making up for that since her arrival making new friends and savoring the charm that is Austria.

Amy is due to return Sept. 3 and after only a moment or two for reentry will start her senior year at Oteora High School.

The Oteora Chapter of AFS will be accepting applications of prospective students who wish to travel and study abroad. The American Field Service International Scholarships is a non-profit organization interested in furthering better understanding through travel and study.

Interested parents may contact the president of the Oteora Chapter, Mrs. Alice Crost, Evergreen Lane, Woodstock.

Boys Welcome Too

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The City Department of Parks and Recreation here says you can be a bathing beauty whether you're a girl or a boy—if you're ten years old or younger.

Announcing a city "bathing beauty contest," the department said that both boys and girls will be judged on poise and gracefulness. Girls, however, will be screened for "beauty" and boys for "body build."

Top All-Girl Corps To Open State Fair

SYRACUSE The girl-watchers will be watching the Chaparrelles, an all-girl drum and bugle corps, who will take part in opening day ceremonies, Tuesday, Sept. 1, at the 1970 New York State Fair. The girls, from Ogdensburg, have also been asked to stage an exhibition during the Fair's High School Marching Band Competition on the same day.

The corps consists of 124 girls ranging from age 10 to 20, replete with a color guard and majorette section. Displaying their colors of red, white and black, the Chaparrelles will perform such popular tunes as "Can't Take My Eyes Off You," "Born Free," and "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White."

Formed in the winter of 1968, the Chaparrelles were prize-winners that year in most contests in which they were eligible to compete.

The girls earn all their own money in order to buy new instruments, uniforms and other equipment for the corps. They sponsor bake sales, car washes, raffles and dances to help raise money.

In 1969, the Chaparrelles won first place in every contest they entered, including the Central Canadian Exposition in Ot-of Wedding Bells and Beautiful Brides

MRS. CHARLES W. SOUTHWICK

Miss Nancy Rand Herbert of Chappaqua exchanged marriage vows with Charles Howard Southwick of Winetka, Ill., today in the First Congregational Church, Chappaqua.

The Rev. Lloyd H. Dunham officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Herbert of 18 Shady Lane, Chappaqua, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Gerard W. Betz of Kingston and the late Gerard W. Betz and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Herbert.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Webb Southwick of Winetka, Ill.

A luncheon reception was held at the Mount Kisco Country Club after the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory silk peau de soie gown embroidered with clusters of seed pearls and Alencon lace. A crown of lace and pearls held her floor length silk illusion veil and she carried a Victorian bouquet of white butterfly roses, stephanotis, stock florets, baby's breath and English ivy.

Mrs. Charles W. Greenlee of Glastonbury, Conn. was the matron of honor for her sister. The attendants were Mrs. David Reiter of Winetka, Ill., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Joan Ebert of Chappaqua; Mrs. James Fuson of Indianapolis, Ind.; and Mrs. Charles Jerden of Bloomington, Ind.

All wore long flowered lavender, green and turquoise colors. They carried white French baskets of lavender asters, yellow baby's breath, yellow shasta daisies and English ivy. The matron of honor had chrysanthemum pompons centered in her bouquet.

Harry Webb Southwick Jr. served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Thomas Morley of Glenview, Ill.; Ronald Eich of Glenview, Ill.; James Fuson of Indianapolis, Ind.; and Guilford Parsons of Flossmoor, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Southwick are graduates of DePauw University in Greencastle, Indiana.

The bride will be teaching Second Grade at Pike Township in Indianapolis, where her husband is associated with Xerox.

After a wedding trip to the Connecticut seashore, Mr. and Mrs. Southwick will reside in Indianapolis, Ind.

Best Food Buys For Weekend

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Agricultural Department's consumer and marketing service says food shoppers will find a greater selection of fruits and vegetables than meats at their nearby markets this weekend.

The selection of meats however will include ground beef, beef roasts and steaks, and in poultry, broiler-fryers and turkeys.

Vegetables in good supply include cabbage, celery, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, green peppers, potatoes and tomatoes.

Among the fruits will be bananas, cantaloupes, peaches, and watermelons. Frozen concentrated orange juice is abundant, too.

Foods listed on USDA's plentiful foods list for August include wheat products — the feature for August, which is sandwich month — summer, vegetables, watermelons, fresh plums, peanuts and peanut products and, in some areas, canned grapefruit section.

Food shoppers will find chuck beef steaks, boneless chuck and round roasts at Northeast meat counters this weekend. Some pork loin roasts will be available but lamb will be scarce. Broiler-fryers and turkeys will be on hand in the poultry section.

Mohonk Nature Programs Debut Monday

A new program in Mohonk's growing repertoire of varied holidays to meet special interests makes its debut from August 24th to 30th.

"Conservation Today" will be completely unlike any other nature program sponsored by the resort, for it will be low-key, featuring only one or two leisurely programs each day, alternating between walks and talks. The program will include:

Monday, 8:30 p.m. — Man vs. Nature — A talk by Dr. Lawrence S. Hamilton, professor of Forestry and Conservation, Cornell University.

Tuesday, 10 a.m. — Ecosystems — A walk with Selden Spencer, professor of Biology with wide ecological interests.

Wednesday, 10 a.m. — The New Concern — A talk by Joseph Van Vleck, a former professor now working in population control, through planned parenthood organizations.

Wednesday, 2:30 p.m. — Nature and the Humanities —

A Walk with Dr. John Gustafsen, chairman, Department of Biological Sciences, SUNY, Cortland; member of Governor Rockefeller's Commission on Youth Education in Conservation.

Thursday, 10 a.m. — Ethics in Conservation — A walk with Dr. John Gustafsen.

Thursday, 8:30 p.m. — Aesthetic Quality and Ethics — An illustrated talk by Dr. Carl George, professor of Biology, Union College; trustee of The Mohonk Trust; Chairman, Eastern N.Y. Chapter, The Nature Conservancy.

Friday, All Day — Mohonk Trust Day — All day will be devoted to tours of the property now held by The Mohonk Trust.

Saturday, Aug. 29, 10 a.m. — What Can the Individual Do? — A Talk by Mrs. Lambert LeMaire, Conservation Chairman of Federated Garden Clubs of New York State.

Sunday, Aug. 30, 11 a.m. — Spiritual Responsibility — The inter-faith religious service will be conducted by Rev. Gerret Wullschlaeger, Minister Emeritus, The Reformed Church, New Paltz.

Anyone visiting the Mohonk Mountain House for midday or evening meal is welcome to take part in the program at no added cost.

Two more programs will round out an unusually active year: the Nature-Birding Weekend from September 24th to 27th, which will be conducted by B. Bartram Cadbury, who was for 11 years the director of the Maine Audubon Camp; and the Fall Nature Week, from October 19th to 23rd. This latter will introduce a number of leaders, among them Harry Betros, director of Staten Island's High Rock Park Conservation Center; Davis Finch, who teaches French at Vassar College, and does research on birds at Yale Biological Laboratories; Martha Sykes, Director-naturalist at the Sharon Audubon Center; and C. Bertram Schaugency, wildlife photographers and ardent expert birders.

Information may be obtained through Virginia and Daniel Smiley, coordinators, or the Reservations department, Mohonk Mountain House, New Paltz.

Scout President To Receive Award

Ted Mack, master of ceremonies, will present the Golden Gong Award of the Original Amateur Hour to Mrs. Douglas MacNeil, national Girl Scout president, who will accept on behalf of Girl Scouts of the USA.

This award has been presented only four times before to individuals and organizations who have made outstanding contributions to youth. Two of the recipients are former President Harry S. Truman and Actor-Legislator George Murphy.

Mrs. MacNeil will in turn present Ted Mack with an honorary membership in Girl Scouts of the USA for his interest in the young people of this country and his contribution to wholesome broadcasting.

The exchange of awards may be seen on Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour on many CBS television stations, Sunday at 5:30 Eastern DST, 4:30 Central time. Check local listings for exact broadcast time.

Noted Pianist at Maverick Sunday

One of Woodstock's most beloved musicians, Jacqueline Marcault, will return to rustic Maverick Hall this Sunday at 3 p.m. She will be joined by Robert Bloch, violinist. Works by Mozart, Schoenberg, Schubert, and a modern piece by Richard Swift for viola solo, are among the selections to be performed.

Jacqueline Marcault who has performed often at Maverick was chosen by Pablo Casals as the pianist to accompany him in his farewell concert, which alone serves to indicate the high esteem in which she is held in the music world. A former member of the faculty of Cleveland Conservatory, she is much in demand as an inspirational teacher and coach.

Last year she brought new talent to the Maverick. Robert Bloch, a brilliant young violinist. Born in Chicago, Bloch began the study of the violin at an early age and has played extensively in Europe where he received the Darmstadt Award for contemporary music. In this country he has been on the faculty of University of California. For the past year he has been artist in residence at Cornell University where he headed a string quartet and other chamber music groups. This summer he has been with the Marlboro Festival and the University of New Hampshire Summer School of Music, as well as a soloist concerting with many of the most prominent symphony orchestras and in chamber music on both coasts.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Basil Eliescu at Woodstock.

Hard Core Kid Strife Outlined For Kiwanians

The problems of trying to rehabilitate the "hard core kids" of the New York City areas were told to the Kiwanis Club Thursday by Farrell Hopkins, director of Neighborhood Youth Corps of the Catholic Charities in the metropolitan area.

One of 32 agencies in New York City dealing with the 16-17 year-old youth groups, Hopkins stated that the Catholic Charities endeavored to accomplish a basic training job on school dropouts and youth from broken homes. He said that his agency had to contend with youngsters who were interested in a "free ride," with no thought of trying to better themselves, and that one of the acute problems, other than drugs, was the inability of many of these 16-17 year olds to read.

He stressed the idea of encouraging youth to return to school, and spoke of the satisfaction of placing youths in jobs and saving them from themselves.

Hopkins also spoke of past days when he operated as a basketball coach and his dealings with the nationally-known Lew Alcindor, a professional basketball player. Hopkins dealt with Alcindor when the latter was in grammar school and noted problems with the basketball star because of his unusual height, towering over other young players and causing opposing coaches to question the age of the star-to-be. The speaker stated that Alcindor was always polite and anxious to play the game to the best of his ability.

Watch for Doors

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Glass doors and panels can be decorative and attractive—and also potentially hazardous. Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, State Health Commissioner, cautions.

He estimates the number of persons injured by walking or running into them in New York State each year run as high as 10,000.

Index No. 329-70
NOTICE OF SALE
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action and bearing date the 18th day of August, 1970, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment, will sell at public auction at the Ulster County Courthouse, 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon on the 22nd day of September, 1970, the premises described by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT LOT OR PARCEL OF LAND with the buildings and improvements thereon, situate in the Town of Shandaken, County of Ulster and State of New York in the region known under the Post Office name of Highmount, east of Grifflin Corners.

Commencing at a stake and stone, the southerly corner of the School House, and running thence south 55° 56' west 251.5 feet to the stone wall of the northwesterly corner of the Cottage Lot of one J. Glenworth Butler; thence along said lot south 52° 37' west 454.4 feet to a stake and stone in the northerly bounds of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad; thence along the line of lands of said Railroad Company westerly about 482 feet to a stake and stone; thence north 54° 15' east 454 feet to the intersection of the road from Pine Hill to Griffins Corners, and the road known as the Station Cross Road; thence southerly along the center of said Station Cross Road north 61° 45' east 200 feet and north 15° east 200 feet and north 75° 23' east 276 feet to a point on the prolongation westerly of the southerly line of the School House Lot south 19° 15' east 238 feet to the place of beginning.

Containing approximately 6.37 acres.

Excepting therefrom that portion of the above described premises now part of the public highway running from Pine Hill to Fleischmanns.

Also being the same premises conveyed to Leo J. O'Hara and Helen O'Hara by Frances Garlick and Gustav Molloy by deed bearing date March 20th, 1948 and recorded herewith.

ALSO BEING the same premises conveyed by Sol Berner and Helen Berner, his wife, to Belleayre Mountain Lodge, Inc., by deed dated April 25, 1950 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 782 of Deeds at page 448.

ALSO BEING the same premises conveyed to Leo J. O'Hara and Helen O'Hara by Sol Berner and Helen Berner, by deed dated the 21st day of April, 1950 and thereafter duly recorded in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster April 21, 1950 in Liber 781 of Deeds at page 298.

Excepting therefrom that portion of the above described real estate as being appropriated by the State of New York.

Dear Abby

Guests Unwelcome?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN.
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who complains constantly to me because she lives in a clannish neighborhood. She says that her neighbors come over for coffee every morning even before she has her last one off to school. And a few of them stay until it's time for lunch and she can't get her housework done.

They don't wait to be offered coffee — they help themselves. (She uses five pounds of coffee a week and she is the only adult in her family who drinks it.)

I told her to put a sign outside her door. "SORRY, NO TIME FOR COFFEE TODAY," but she says she hasn't got the nerve.

Her husband travels, and when he's home the neighbors are there having coffee right with him. How can I help my friend get rid of these pests? I'm afraid she'll have a nervous breakdown.

WEST SIDER

DEAR WEST: Many people complain that they are constantly being "imposed upon" by unwelcome guests, but for some strange reason they never do anything about it. This leads me to suspect that the "victim" not only secretly enjoys these drop-in pests, but enjoys complaining about them. It's her coffee, her time and her problem. When she complains to me, I'll recommend a foolproof pest exterminator.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a great person — except for one thing: HIS TEMPER. He has never hit me, but I'm starting to get scared. He gets mad over the least little thing. He broke the leg off the TV because he couldn't get a clear picture, and if somebody happens to get a wrong number and rings our place by mistake, he yells at them like they committed some kind of crime.

He has always had a hot temper but he used to cool down fast. Now he gets mad at the least little thing and he stays mad for hours — and sometimes days. Could something be wrong with him?

SCARED

DEAR SCARED: Yes. But I am no doctor which is what your husband needs in order to determine if his fits of anger are symptoms of a serious illness or if he is just overreacting in a childish way.

DEAR ABBY: "X" and I are getting married soon at a formal wedding in a church. Three out of the four ushers have long hair. This will look terrible with tuxes. I think those three should either cut their hair or wear one of those short stretch wigs they have for men now.

"X" says we have no right to ask them to do either. My mother is having a fit.

If these boys show up in the wedding party with their long hair, I know there will be a lot of criticism from my relatives. What is your opinion?

DEAR "B": You have no right to ask the ushers to pose as shorthaired types. (I doubt if they would agree to do it, anyway.) It seems to me that everyone should be accustomed to seeing long hair on men by now. If it's clean and well cared for, what is there to criticize?

DEAR ABBY: Is it considered good manners to comment on a lady's jewelry? I mean, if the comment is meant as a compliment?

SYRACUSE

DEAR SYRACUSE: Certainly. It's a fairly safe bet that the lady who adorns herself with jewelry does so in the hope that it will be noticed.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There are a considerable number of delays attending almost anything you try to put in motion today, so try to make good use of this day by a relaxed and casual attitude. Let conditions work themselves out and enjoy pleasures that do not require watching the clock. Keep cheerful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to handle property or financial matter but find it hard because others are not willing to help you with your problems. Improve property yourself, then all is fine. Take it easy tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) To get out of that rut, go out and do more interesting things, but do them, even if you get a late start. Take those treatments that increase vitality. Be clever with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have so many uncompleted tasks to take care of so don't run off to have a good time with others just now. Help to alleviate the suffering of others. Be gentle and kind with them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to go out socially but friends are busy so forget it and avoid arguments. Go after personal aims with a strong will. Be persistent and you find you win out with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have some matters to handle out-of-doors that are annoying, but do them so you have free time for more important things in the next few days. Show gratitude for the support of a higher-up. Be happy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is a good time to study new interests but not to make any radical changes as yet. A letter you may receive could be very disturbing, but pay little attention to it. Be happy with loved one tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you feel like playing, there are responsibilities you must attend to. Show you are a responsible person. Show little kindnesses to mate. It will be appreciated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are forceful with an associate to get him to do what you desire, you will meet with sturdy stubbornness and nothing will be accomplished. Use a more tactful manner. Reconcile past differences.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Now is the time to get those tasks accomplished for which you have little time during the busy work week. Persevere. Do those things that please co-workers, also. Evening is fine for fun with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stop looking for others to accompany you. Instead find the right recreation outlets that suit your mood most right now. Don't take any unnecessary risks. Avoid getting into serious trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Stop adding fuel to the argument brewing at home or it could result in trouble. Use a more conciliatory tone instead. Eliminate whatever has been causing the trouble. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Trying to push success in some deals you are working on could only bring resentment with associates and get you into trouble. Be more efficient. Add comforts, inventions that are helpful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people with much determination who needs to be taught early not to be critical of others because their ideas and actions are not similar. An ideal chart for financial fields, provided accuracy and proportion are taught early, as well as not to merely judge the value of others by the amount of their wealth. Give religious training

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of a copy, send your birthdate and name to Carroll Richter Forecast, your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Richter's Individual Forecast for your sign for September is now ready. For GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a slow start in the early morning that can be beneficially used to get the right slant on life, you are under excellent aspects in the afternoon and evening to visit those you like. Also, study and quietly understand whatever intellectual pursuits interest you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan how to add to present security, then you can visit with persons you like and go to places that are mutually amusing. Call persons you have not seen in some time. Pay them compliments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do what you can to improve appearance then sit down with experts and talk over financial affairs. See how to improve the value of your property. Evening is fine for creative work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan early what you want to do which will mean a great deal. Then be positive in gaining your aims and make real progress. Catch up on your social obligations. Be active.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do what is expected of you by good friends early today, then plan the right course of action to take in the future. Get aid of expert for some preparations you want to make. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle career matter in the morning so that you can later go after personal aim, that is important to you. Attend social function in the evening that brings you happiness and enjoyment.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact that person at a distance early, then handle outside affairs that are important. Get in touch with influential person. Explain plan you have in mind.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care of that responsibility early and then visit with new contact and make fine plans for the future. You are able to obtain the data you need. Go to the right source.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure you settle misunderstanding with an associate early. Plan just how to make your life more pleasant. A close tie expects you to do a little chore. It's not difficult. Do it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to apply yourself seriously if you want to handle that duty early. Then meet with associates for talks of importance. Get into pleasures later with mate. Show that you are most devoted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Planning the social early is wise, then get your work done well without spending too much time. There are fine aspects for improving health and becoming a more vital person. Don't be discouraged.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get problem at home handled early and then you can go out for pleasure you like without worry. Use that fine smile more. Bring more joy to others who are feeling upset.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure you handle important correspondence first, then get busy with home affairs of importance. You have an excellent opportunity to discuss a fine plan with kin now. Get the kinks ironed out.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who is apt to make a slow start toward success if you do not teach early to study lessons very carefully at school and at home. Give attention to details. Complete whatever is started, otherwise your child could become one of those persons who never finishes anything and never accomplishes much in life. Be very careful of the diet and give good religious training.

When you watch the masters in action, you will notice that they are just as careful with the play of their small cards as they are with the big ones.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds. Most players would play a couple of high trumps and continue by leading the seven of spades to dummy's queen in the hope that the defense would not remember to take two clubs right away. This South knew that his opponents would not fail or a better chance to steal a trick.

At trick two he led dummy's deuce of clubs. East played the king and South false-carded with the queen. West dropped the five.

East took a high diamond and led his singleton trump. Now South was ready to play spades. East took dummy's queen with his ace and, after a moment's thought, turned to South, remarked, "Your play deserved a better fate," and set the hand by playing the ace of clubs.

How did East know that South held another club? It was all a matter of having confidence in his partner. West had played the five of clubs, which was the lowest club he could have. This play announced that he held an odd number of clubs. With an even number, he would have started an echo by playing a high one.

Of course, the masters don't always use this defensive echo. They only use it when it is important to give their partner a count. This time it was important and East knew that he had been given a count.

No, sir, we don't have a smog problem in our town. There's too much dust, dirt and auto fumes in the air for smog to form.

It's getting dark earlier these evenings, which is a budget blessing. We'll now get more use from the lights the kids leave on all day.

The Saga of Dick and Jerry

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The fable of the tortoise and the hare may be applicable to the brothers Van Dyke, Dick and Jerry.

While Dick Van Dyke rolled along to stardom in his own television series a half-dozen years ago, younger brother Jerry was left the crumbs; an occasionally bit on Dick's show and the dreaded toll of the nightclub circuit.

Dick went on to movies, "Mary Poppins" for one. It appeared as if brother Dick, the hare, was off to a quick start and would leave brother Jerry, the Tortoise, plodding along in his wake.

Then things began to change for Jerry. For the worse.

He appeared as a regular in a summer replacement show, "Picture This," after which he lasted 13 weeks as the house comic for Judy Garland's ill-starred television series.

A Series of Bombs

Then, at last, Jerry Van Dyke's big break came along. His own starring vehicle, "My Mother, the Car."

If worse television series are made, they'll have to compete with "My Mother, the Car" for insipid stupidity. It was canceled after a season.

Tortoise Jerry was given another chance in yet another series, "Accidental Family," Lifespan: 17 shows.

No one, including Jerry, thought he could appear in a bigger bomb than "My Mother, the Car." "Accidental Family" made Jerry Van Dyke a munitions expert.

All the while brother Dick sailed along in movies. But the people who loved him as Rod Petrie in "The Dick Van Dyke Show" did not throng to his films.

Dick moved to Arizona and a modified retirement.

Meanwhile, Jerry, charred and tattered from his bombings, plugged along.

"If it weren't for my nightclub act I'd have left show business," he said. "I couldn't support my family on the work I was getting in television."

The tortoise was gaining on the hare who had stopped to rest.

Now Jerry may pass the resting Dick. He costars with Andy Griffith next fall in CBS-TV's "Headmaster," in which he plays a coach and physical education instructor at a private school.

"I've never been written for in the past," said Jerry, a likeable, quick-to-smile guy with a minimum of hang-ups.

"The character in this show was written for me specifically. I have high hopes for it. Frankly, after those other two situation comedies I didn't think I'd have another chance."

"When people asked why I took those shows I had to tell the truth. They were all that were offered me. You take what you can."

Brother Dick is working on a return to television. But Jerry for his swifter brother.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

AT THE FAIR—We made it to the Ulster County Fair last weekend as did a record number of area residents and found things haven't changed too much.

Of course, the fair is advertised as bigger and better but we doubt if it will get any better by getting any bigger. It's a nice affair. The 4-H's are still the big attraction. No one tries to grab you by the throat and con you into some impossible "game" like knocking down stuffed pussy cats with baseballs. ("Fifty cents a throw, three for a buck. Win a teddy bear for the little lady.")

We found two events particularly interesting. Naturally, there was the political tent inhabited by Democrats, Republicans, Conservatives and John Birchers.

But then there was this guy who was apparently some kind of latter day Houdini and had obviously seen better days and places.

The guy looked to be about in his 50's, kind of squat with a baywindow. His act was to get tied up in a straight jacket with all kinds of belts around him and then dive into one of those portable swimming pools to do battle with a "monster" who lurked in the depths.

THE YOUNG KIDS seemed to get a charge out of the monster routine; there were any number of wide eyes in attendance. His assistant was an elderly woman who not only tied him up but passed the hat around. Unfortunately, the act dragged on, as the assistant had obviously also seen better days as a hat passer.

We took off for the political tent with Houdini poised over the tank and his assistant halfway through the collections.

First on the agenda was the Republican booth with stacks of Rockefeller propaganda. Not much there. Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, running for his second term, was a disappointment to us. The only thing we saw with his name on it was a booklet on "the legislative process."

That came as somewhat of a surprise to us. Bell is one of the better "communicators" around. He's in the paper constantly and we've never found him at a loss for words or unwilling to be quoted on any subject. No doubt Bell has some kind of brochure coming out. Perhaps mid-August is too early.

Jay Rolison, the state senator, up for his third term, however, appears to be off to a running start with a slick brochure featuring a drawing of himself by none other than Norman Rockwell.

The drawing is rather flattering. Rockwell adds a few blades of hair to Rolison's pate and a few pounds to his face. Rolison seems to have a serene expression on his face which seems to say "catch me if you can."

JUST ACROSS the tent from the GOP booth was the John Birch booth. Perhaps the Birchers have had too much bad publicity. There didn't seem to be much of a crowd around the booth when we were there. They had a sign which said, "Education is our only weapon."

Harry Hoffman, the Ulster County Conservative chairman, manned his party's booth. Hoffman is running for Congress against Ham Fish, the Republican incumbent and John Greaney, the East Durham Democrat.

We asked Hoffman why Fish didn't get the Conservative nomination, it being our impression that Fish had voted down the line with the darling of the Conservatives, President Nixon. Hoffman tells us that that's not really the case, that Fish's liberal voting record is about the same as his Conservative record.

The Democrat booth was staffed by Charles (Mike) Johnson, the party's candidate against Coroner Arthur Chipp, and Alex Nirenberg, the candidate for district attorney against Frank Vogt.

Johnson seems to realize that his chances of beating Chipp are slim but accepts it philosophically. "I'm meeting a lot of people," he says. "They seem to be pretty nice. It's a rewarding experience."

Nirenberg, of course, is out for more than just a rewarding experience. He thinks he can win it. For Nirenberg, the sports premise that says that a man who will not be beaten cannot be beaten is something he hopes will hold true for him.

David Lenefsky, the Democrat running against Rolison, is another fighter. He has a brochure which features the campaign theme: "Ulster and Dutchess, the Forgotten Counties: I'll Make Albany Remember Them."

Lenefsky, we hear, is doing all right in Ulster County but is having identity problems in Dutchess. Lenefsky, is well aware, of course, that the key to victory lies in heavily populated Dutchess.

MEANWHILE, back in Kingston, the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club held its annual picnic at upper Hasbrouck Park on Sunday. As usual it was well attended, mostly by Democrats, but then again, that's the kind of function that the faithful are supposed to support.

We met Adam Walinsky for the first time, who, we gathered from conversations later, wasn't exactly turning the crowd on. Walinsky is running for Attorney General against that perennial powerhouse, Louis Lefkowitz. We mentioned Lefkowitz's highly publicized campaign on auto warranties to Walinsky, seeking his reaction. Walinsky hummed something about "the old politics" and said he wouldn't dignify the issue by commenting on it.

We also met John J. Greaney who turned out to be a friendly guy without too much to say. Greaney has been sniping at Fish but his main claim to fame seems to be his fathering of 13 children.

MAYOR FRANK KOENIG was there, of course ("My fourth one today").

Frank's in his element at picnics and clam bakes. He makes the rounds, smiling, kidding, patting children on the head and guys on the back. A Sunday in the sun. No one begrudges him that. He puts in 12 to 14 hours a day as mayor.

Getting back to his official duties, the mayor is beginning to look just a bit foolish, through no fault of his own, on this census project. It's been six weeks since Koenig commissioned the aldermen to go out and count up the people in their wards. Still no results and as of this writing, there's still no final figures.

The word we get is that there's now one ward to go, Mike Perry's Seventh Ward. Perry has been ill we are told for the past month although no one seems to know just what the affliction is.

We thought we detected just a note of exasperation in Koenig's voice when he discussed the census with us on Thursday. No doubt he's getting tired of saying "we'll have it done in a few days."

Auto Crash Injures Two

A one-car crash on the Mid-Hudson Bridge early this morning resulted in minor injuries to three Dutchess County residents, according to Highland state police.

Police said an auto operated by Wayne Vrooman, 20, of Hyde Park was traveling east on the bridge when it crossed the center mall and struck the curbing of the west lane of the highway.

Vrooman, along with passengers Gary Riordan, 20, and LeRoy Vrooman, 23, both of Poughkeepsie, sustained lacerations of the face and head and were treated at Vassar Brothers Hospital.

No summonses were issued. The accident occurred at about 2:30 a.m. today on Route 44-55.

Big Choice for the State Voters

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York voters may have 12 parties to choose from on the state election ballot this November.

That possibility became evident Friday when five additional parties filed petitions with the secretary of state to place the names of their candidates on the ballot.

Some of the parties are admittedly fringe groups and are meant only to express a point of view. Others were designed only to give a candidate a second line on the ballot.

The petitions Friday were submitted by the Communist party, the Courage party, the Right to Life party, the Socialist Labor party, and the Independent Alliance party.

Earlier in the week, petitions were filed by the Civil Service-Independents party, the Conservation party and the Socialist Workers party. They hope to join the Republican, Democratic, Conservative and Liberal parties—the four recognized major parties—on the ballot.

Secretary of State John Lomenzo has until Sept. 24 to certify the names of the parties to appear on the ballot. Challenges have been raised to the Conservation party and the Civil Service-Independents party.

State law requires that so-called minority parties submit at least 12,000 petition signatures with at least 50 from each county, counting Fulton and Hamilton counties as one, to be listed. Parties that received at least 50,000 votes in the last gubernatorial election qualify automatically.

Here's the lineup, pending challenges, with the party's name and symbol:

Republican (eagle) — Nelson Rockefeller for governor, Malcolm Wilson for lieutenant governor, Charles Goodell for senator, Louis Lefkowitz for attorney general, Edward Regan for comptroller. All except Regan are incumbents.

Democrat (star) — Arthur Goldberg for governor, Basil Paterson for lieutenant governor, Richard Ottinger for senator, Adam Walinsky for attorney general, Arthur Levitt for comptroller. Levitt is the only incumbent.

Conservative (torch of liberty) — Paul Adams for governor, Edward F. Leonard for lieutenant governor, James Buckley for senator, Leo Kesselring for attorney general and Anthony R. Spinelli for comptroller.

Liberal (liberty bell) — Goldberg for governor, Paterson for lieutenant governor, Goodell for senator.

Conservation (leaping fish) — Ottinger for senator, Walinsky for attorney general.

Civil Service-Independents (lighthouse with ship and words "good government, honesty, fruitfulness") — Rockefeller for governor, Wilson for lieutenant governor.

Socialist Workers (raised arm) — Clifton DeBerry for governor, Jon Rothschild for lieutenant governor, Kipp Dawson for senator; Miguel Padilla for attorney general, Ruthann Miller, for comptroller.

Socialist Labor (arm and hammer)—Stephen Emery for governor; Arnold Babel for lieutenant governor; John Emanuel for senator, Walter Steinhilber for comptroller. Babel is from Freeport, the others from New York City.

Communist (hammer and sickle)—Rasheed Storey for governor; Grace Mora Newman for lieutenant governor, Arnold Johnson for senator. All from New York City.

Courage (Capitol dome in Washington) — Albert Bushong of Rome for governor, Robert P. Shields of Flushing for lieutenant governor. This was the New York State label of the party that ran George Wallace for president in 1968.

Right to Life (infant in a womb) — Mrs. Jane Gilroy of Merrick for governor, Mrs. Marcia Pilsner of Seaford for lieutenant governor. They are anti-abortion.

Independent Alliance (silhouette of state with superimposed name of Buckley) — Buckley for senator.

Fulbright Sees More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says he suspects U.S. technicians may be sent into Cambodia to operate electronic equipment supplied under a new arms aid program. The State Department denies any such plan.

An administration official has told Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee the United States will supply Cambodia with rifles, mortars, ammunition and other small arms and light equipment.

But Marshall Green, an assistant secretary of state, said there are no plans to send any U.S. advisors with it.

The administration set no figure on the value of the arms shipment, but Fulbright said he believes it will total about $40 million.

He said he anticipates there will be electronic gear, as well as small weapons, in the U.S. shipment of arms.

Fulbright said such equipment will be necessary to guide American warplanes involved in Cambodian operations.

Green told the Foreign Relations Committee Friday the arms aid does not signal a U.S. commitment to support the Lon Nol government in Phnom Penh.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said after the closed briefing that Green emphasized the United States does not intend to take military aid program carries on any commitment that would widen the Indochina war.

But Church said an enlarged military aid program carries the danger of such a commitment.

U.S. Funds for Allies Rejected by the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emphasizing its opposition to a wide Indochina war, the Senate has voted against use of U.S. funds for foreign troops fighting in support of Laos and Cambodia.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., was adopted by voice vote Friday and attached to the $19.2 billion military purchasing bill.

The amendment will be considered later in a conference with the House where its fate is uncertain.

In related action Friday, the Senate approved by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., to reassert the congressional prerogative of setting ceilings on the level of U.S. military manpower.

And it adopted 69-0 an amendment by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., to cut troop rotations by 25 per cent, a step he said would save $140 million. The amendment exempted the Vietnam

Israel Unleashes A Fourth Charge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claims it has new "irrefutable" evidence that Egypt is "continuing grave violations" of the Middle East cease-fire by moving more SAM antiaircraft missiles closer to the Suez Canal.

The complaint, the fourth such since the cease-fire went into effect at midnight Aug. 7, was based on material gathered Thursday, Israel said.

The Israeli military command said the evidence indicates "the construction of missile batteries and other preparational work still in progress" within 20 miles of the canal. The terms of the truce bar new military deployment within 30 miles of the waterway.

There was no Egyptian comment on the charges. Egypt has refused to acknowledge any of Israel's charges of cease-fire violations.

In Washington, the State Department dismissed an Egyptian protest against American surveillance of the cease-fire by U2 spy planes and satellites. Egypt called such flights a "pretense for espionage," but State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the United States had received no official statement on the matter from Egypt and would continue the surveillance.

The State Department also said there is reason for hope that indirect peace talks might be resumed.

(See Today's Movies Review Page)

Full Week's TV Listing From Aug. 23 Thru Aug. 29

More Than a Bit of Quixote About Him

David Atkinson, the star of "Man of La Mancha" (now playing through Aug. 30 at Woodstock Playhouse), has won standing ovations everywhere this all-time great Broadway musical hit has played. He lets no one doubt his personal admiration for "La Mancha," or that he considers his role of Don Quixote in the musical one of the highlights of his acting career. That's easy to understand when you know he's played the part for four years, traveled 60,000 miles in the doing, and made 170 stops.

He is also something of a visionary; not quite content with conditions as they exist in the world today; feels there's room for more nobility and idealism. Indeed, there is more than a bit of Don Quixote about him — and this was reflected in the very candid interview with TEMPO this week. Cliches were totally missing in the answers the tall, handsome Atkinson fielded in a fast-paced question session this week before hurrying off to yet another rehearsal.

With TEMPO editor Tobie Geertsema posing the questions, here's how it went.)

TEMPO: As a long-time performer in such established and morally acceptable plays as Brigadoon, Kiss Me Kate and Carousel, how do you view the trend toward increasing sexual candor in theatre and films?

ATKINSON: I think there are new, exciting things taking place in communications, although I'm not sure I'd call it entertainment or theatre. Today's flashy young people with their sounds are breaking down a whole barrier as Brecht was trying to do by intruding upon the audience.

There have been some side effects as a result of these "new sounds," although they are not literally associated with the formal theatre department. Breaking down barriers is another form of breaking down any resistance that would interfere with communications.

The establishment always formalizes a thing and makes it vogueish. But today some very exciting and creative things are being done and "Hair" is one of them.

TEMPO: You do not feel, then, that sexual suggestiveness and overt erotica is evidence of a moral decline in society at large?

ATKINSON: No, not so much a moral decline as an indication of a change of values. The young people are determined to spell rebellion and to force change regardless.

"La Mancha" is a show born out of commercial theatre, but its theme is so contagious, it appeals to all generations. The hero is the antithesis of everything commercial — of everything that exploitation represents. The show has total integrity; is as inspiring for the young as for the older generation.

TEMPO: Critics and writers in recent years have referred to you as something of a visionary and idealist. What are your personal reactions to the youth revolution as exemplified in student protests and demonstrations?

ATKINSON: I have no children but, if I did, I would be very upset if they were not non-conformist and not rebelling. With so much spent on education today, why should students collect only facts and statistics? Why not collect, as well, an awareness of what their rights are; of what individual choices are offered?

My own feeling about the population explosion, for example, is that anything that involves increase only snowballs and compounds itself. That applies to many other things, too, and with one's growing awareness, the causes are more critical. Any thinking young person should be making an enormous fuss right now. I can understand their anger about many things. I'm angry myself about our total acceptance of allowing the military to dump that nerve gas into the ocean.

TEMPO: On a less serious note, what kinds of actors and singers (since your role is one that requires the use of gifts as actor and singer) do you yourself like to watch?

ATKINSON: I think the German actor Oskar Werner, in films like "Ship of Fools" and others, has brought back to the screen a dimension of beauty and a poetic sense that has been missing for a long time. He has returned to what Ronald Coleman and Leslie Howard had — more than simply the ability

Ghosts of Spoon River Live Again

"A brooding and loving American folk poem brought to life on a stage," said the New York Times. "A procession of unforgettable men and women, and a powerful evocation of life," wrote the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Both references could refer to only one play, "Spoon River Anthology," the Edgar Lee Masters' masterpiece adapted and arranged for the theatre by Charles Aidman.

Via musical interludes, the version conceived by Aidman, introduces audiences to the ghosts who were once in habitants of the town of Spoon River, and whose secrets have gone with them to the grave.

Sixty Characters

There are 60-odd characterizations and vignettes in this constantly interesting entertainment, offering an amazingly varied array of roles and impersonations. Spoon River's young lovers, preachers and teachers of the past take to the stage to reveal both their public and private lives, through folk ballads and the free verse form of Masters.

Evocative, moving and sometimes funny (as in the chronicle of the poor, mixed-up Jew who ends up in the wrong cemetery), an excellent stage version of "Spoon River Anthology" is currently being presented at the new Theatre Company on the Hudson. It opened this week in the Bard College Theatre on the Dutchess County campus for a run through Aug. 30.

Not a college production, it boasts a cast of talented professionals; intriguingly presents four resident actors portraying the 60-odd characterizations and vignettes that make up the play.

Arthur Bartow, Stephanie Elliot, J. Frederick Jones and June Squibb become the ghosts of Spoon River past. The musical interludes and folk ballads used to introduce the various personages are sung and played by Jeremy Rogers and Margaret Roche.

Praise from Sandburg

Bartow is a highly praised actor who appeared on Broadway in "Ben Franklin in Paris" and toured from coast to coast in the National Company of "Fiorello." Carl Sandburg called his portrayal of Abe Lincoln "one of the best Lincolns I've ever seen."

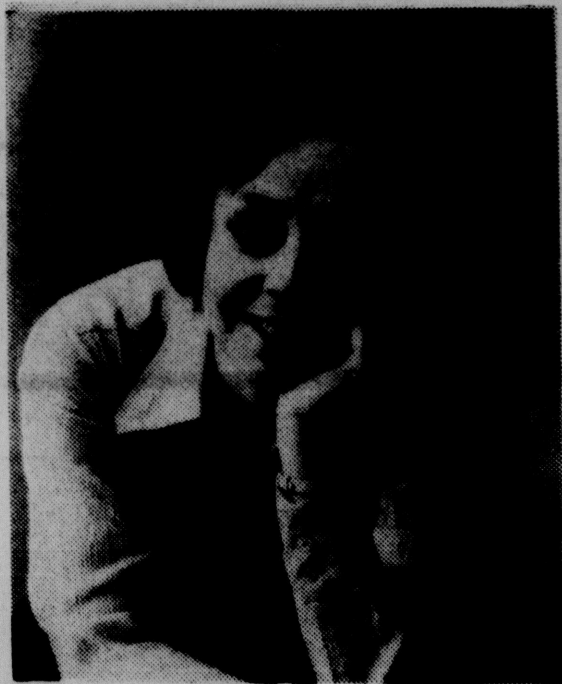

Miss Elliot has distinguished herself on stage in "The World of Sholom Aleichem" opposite Jack Guilford, in Lorraine Hansberry's "To Be Young, Gifted and Black," and on television for four years in "The Bilko Show," as well as on the daytime serial "Brighter Day."

Miss Squibb has played opposite Ethel Merman in "Gypsy" and Robert Goulet in "The Happy Time," and gleaned acclaim in the off-Broadway production of "Boy Friend." Jones comes to Theatre-on-the-Hudson from Baltimore's Center Stage where he played major roles in "The Tempest" and "The Knack." Jeremy Rogers is well-known in this area, having played leading roles in every major production at Bard College prior to his recent graduation from that school. He has also done summer stock at Fishkill's Cecilwood Theatre and at Long Wharf Theatre in New Haven, Conn.

Under the direction of Charles Katsakis, Theatre-on-Hudson's production of "Spoon River" is a haunting, moving and richly comic theatrical experience. The cast masterfully performs Edgar Lee Masters' folk poems about life and death in rural Illinois with beauty.

TEMPO recommends it highly; suggests a drive to the Bard campus any night Tuesday through Sunday from now to Aug. 30, or for the matinee performances on Thursdays and Saturdays. For further information and reservations, call 914-758-8477.

STEPHANIE ELLIOTT of the "Spoon River" cast will be remembered by TV fans from her four years on "The Bilko Show" and for her many appearances on the daytime serial "Brighter Day."

JEREMY ROGERS plays a variety of roles in the August Festival at Theatre Company on the Hudson; is well known to Bard College theatregoers for performances there in recent years.

JUNE SQUIBB brings to "Spoon River" the multiple talents she has displayed on Broadway in "Gypsy" and "The Happy Time," and in off-Broadway's big hit, "The Boy Friend."

WEST HURLEY'S DAVE FOX takes to the cockpit each Sunday to indulge in a high-in-the sky dogfight over Rhinebeck. Bemedalled ace is currently featured on the cover of a jet set magazine.

The Red Baron Is Alive and Well

By JEAN F. DOLAN

The whole world is finding out what TEMPO knew all along. The Red Baron is alive and well and flying the skies over Rhinebeck.

Cole Palen's Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome, well known to local World War I airplane buffs, has come in for extensive national recognition during recent weeks.

West Hurley's Dave Fox who flies each Sunday with the dogfighters is featured on the cover of the TWA Ambassador, magazine distributed to jet setters. The entire aerodrome operation serves as format for a paper company promotion now in its fourth printing. As further proof that all the Sopwith Pups are not figments of Snoopy's dog house reveries, the New York Times featured the Rhinebeck air doings in a recent Sunday feature.

The Daily News down Manhattan way also did a spread on the Palen preserve, and Life magazine's crew dropped by last Sunday to photograph a feature for an upcoming and near-future issue. National Geographic has a story in the works for its next issue, and this Sunday at 6 p.m., television viewers will take a tour of the Aerodrome on the Roger Mudd news program.

A New Look

Although this may seem old helmet to TEMPO readers it might be well to take a new look at this Sunday afternoon special just across the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

Each week May through October the skies over Rhinebeck are the scene of the mock dogfight which according to the story line is not for God and Country but for a girl. The spoof is carried out with boos and hisses for the villain in the best traditions of melodrama.

The vintage planes, the costumes, even the groundbound vehicles are all authentic of the World War I period. As an added feature a museum tour rounds out the trip back in air time.

Palen started the venture in 1958 with six early aircraft. He now owns 24 planes including a Spad, Fokker triplane, a Sopwith and a Curtiss Jenny—and can fly them all. The mechanical aspects of rebuilding the ancient planes holds the most appeal for the men who make up the Rhinebeck cadre.

Fox, an IBM engineer, spearheaded restoration of a World War I ambulance as a surprise for Palen several years ago. He flies the Fokker D-7 in the Sunday shows.

It Comes Naturally

Flying the vintage craft comes naturally to Fox who started his air career at an early age flying a Jenny from his father's lap. He was soloing in air shows at the age of 14, barnstorming across the country. During World War II he was flight instructor for the Navy and later flight inspector for the B-36 and B-57.

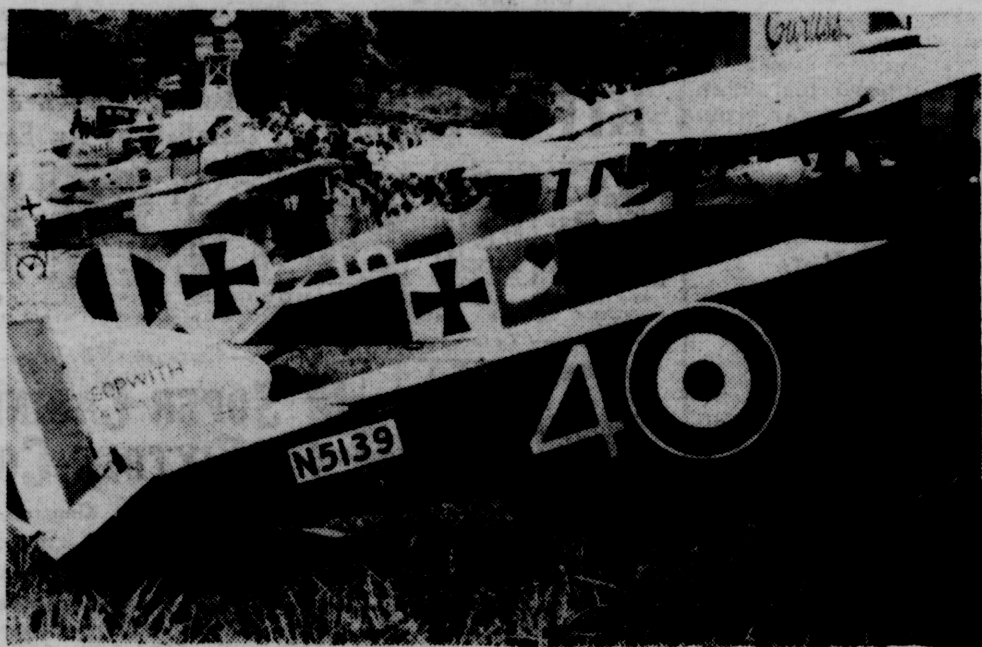

Bob Love, a neighbor of Palen, is another IBM engineer who has a fascination with the early aircraft. He was one of the first to work with Palen in the restoration groundwork, having owned several "early birds" of his own.

Dick King, Hyde Park teacher, is the "good guy" in the Sunday afternoon battles. He pilots the Sopwith built almost from scratch from the original plans, a neat feat in itself. It took him three years and $2,500.

Another authentic vehicle of the period which makes the rounds of the aerodrome grounds is a large yellow and black 1912 Renault which Palen rebuilt.

Costuming too is of the World War I era. Leather helmet and goggles, swirling silk scarf are all reminiscent of the dashing adventurers who first braved the skies over France in their flimsy craft.

Indeed, the Baron is alive and well as are Sir Percy Goodfellow and Trudi Truelove and all those beautiful planes. Any one with doubts as to their well being may check it out any Sunday afternoon at Rhinebeck.

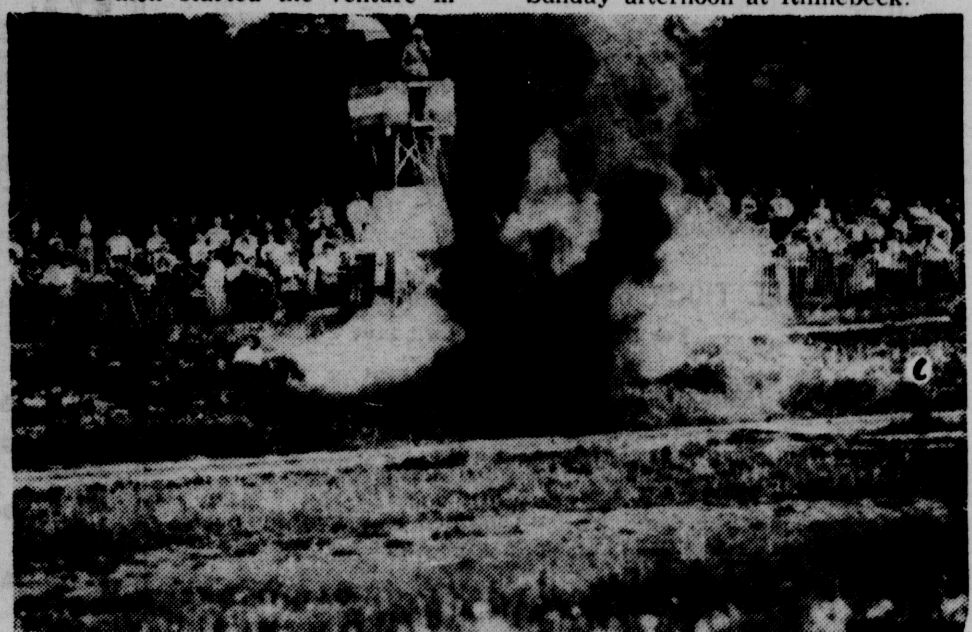

WITH THE EVER-READY SOPWITH front and center, other vintage airplanes line up to climb skyward in scene reminiscent of those "Over There" days during World War I.

FAIR DAMSEL IN DISTRESS is a pigtailed beauty whose lacy pantaloons attract attention of horn blowers in old-time German band. The girl, the terrible Huns, and the vintage auto are all part of story line of Rhinebeck Aerodrome's mock dogfight entertainment.

GENTLEMANLY SALUTE is raised by Cole Palen. Gesture was the trademark of booted, crop-carrying, helmeted fliers on both sides during the war to end all wars, which seemed to have more melodrama than most inter-nation conflicts.

SIMULATED CRASH staged at the windup of mock dogfight never fails to send the always large crowd in attendance into cheers and applause as fliers fight smoke and flames. (Photos by John Van Gonsic Jr.).

Season of the 'Stars' Bringing Betty Grable To Hyde Park Monday

Before Raquel Welch became today's reigning sex siren in Hollywood and before Marilyn Monroe earned the earlier title of glamor goddess, there was Betty Grable. With red-tressed Rita Hayworth, the blonde-haired Miss Grable shared the adoration of millions of American males.

Like Marlene Dietrich before her, the singing-dancing star made her fortune on a pair of fabulous legs and a beautiful face. The most popular "Pin-Up Girl" of World War II, her picture was hung on every locker door and barracks wall where soldiers trained or fought. More often than not, it was the photograph which caught her coyly lifting her skirt to a point just above the knees.

As the star of a long line of Twentieth Century-Fox films, she burst on movie screens around the world in technicolored musical after technicolored musical. Co-starring with such movie lovers as Don Ameche and Dick Haymes, she was one of the biggest box-office draws in films.

Starred in 'Dolly'

After marriage to Harry James, one of the most popular of big band leaders, she was seldom seen on the screen. In recent years, however, she has been active on the stage; scored personal successes in "Hello, Dolly!" and other shows.

Now the attractive Miss Grable is headed for the Hyde Park Playhouse as the star of "Born Yesterday," Garson Kanin's finest comedy and the popular favorite of many theatre-goers. The sparkling show is slated at Hyde Park from Aug. 24-29. It should have vast appeal since Miss Grable will be cast as Billie Dawn, one of the most marvelously unique kooks in theatre. As the proverbial dumb blonde who emerges far from dumb after tangling with Washington politics, she has drawn one of the juiciest stage roles ever written.

Unusual Pets

One of the "NBC Children's Theater" specials for the fall will be "Pets Allowed," featuring domesticated animals of all sorts. Anyone who has an extraordinary pet he would like to suggest for the program should write and send photographs to "Pets Allowed," Room 4099, National Broadcasting Company, New York City.

MANHATTAN SUBWAY RIDERS are the subject of this Philip Held painting entitled "IRT." It will be included in the two-man show of work by Held and artist Lon Clark at Woodstock's Polari Gallery. Their work will be on view from Aug. 23 through Sept. 7.

Interesting Two-Man Exhibit

Polari Gallery in Woodstock will open an extremely interesting two-man show of the work of Lon Clark and Philip Held on Aug. 23, with a 4-6 p.m. reception.

Held has exhibited widely all over the country and abroad and has been included in the Museum of Modern Art Circulating Collection. He has had numerous one man shows including exhibitions at the Ward Eggleston Gallery, Berkshire Museum and Fontana Gallery in Narbeth, Pa. He has taught art since 1947 and has been chairman of the art department of the Fieldston School since 1962.

Held's treatment of light is strongly impressionistic using high-keyed brilliant color and strong value contrasts. It is primarily a type of genre painting depicting groups of people during everyday life. His work is in the permanent collections of the University of Massachusetts and Berkshire Museum.

A Abstract Quality

The landscapes and still lifes by Lon Clark, one of Woodstock's younger artists, are worked directly from life. Using close color harmonies and densely painted textures Clark is most interested in the abstract qualities of the work. He has received scholarships for study at the Silvermine Guild of Artists, Pratt Institute and the Art Students League.

Beethoven Special

CBS will mark the 200th anniversary of the birth of composer Ludwig Beethoven with a 90-minute special to be aired early next winter. Leonard Bernstein will conduct the Vienna Philharmonic, the Vienna State Opera chorus and soloists in the all-Beethoven program.

He was co-founder of the New York Studio School in 1963-64 and in 1968-70 was a director of the Woodstock School of Art. He has been exhibiting regularly in regional shows receiving an award at the Albany Institute in 1968 and a purchase prize at Munson Williams Proctor Institute in 1969. He has recently been conducting a unique experimental art program in the New Caanan, Conn. high schools.

The exhibition will run through Sept. 7.

Cabaret Night's A Zestful 'Mix' At the Gallery

Take the fact that the Age fun event, which will feature an Armenian orchestra and belly dancer, dancing and refreshments for party-goers.

Cabaret night will also offer an opportunity to take home an unusual work of art from several made available for some lucky pleasure-seeker by painters John Pike, Cecile Foreman and Stefan Lokos, and sculptors Raphael Martini and Philip Guerreri. Pike is internationally known for his watercolors, murals and magazine illustrations. Mrs. Foreman is one of Woodstock's most talented painters—a superb colorist with many one-man shows and prizes to her credit. The Hungarian born Lokos came to the U. S. in 1954; is a painter of note and a teacher of art.

Only 200 tickets have been printed for the gala and they're going fast. If Tempo readers want to partake of this fun-filled evening, they had best hurry to the Woodstock Art Gallery on the Village Green, Woodstock's Age of Bronze Sculpture Gallery on Mill Hill Road, or Kingston's Shapiro's Paint Store, where the few remaining tickets are now on sale.

Patton

This is a superlative film! Indeed, it is the finest war movie to come out of Hollywood in our memory.

It is destined to take its place in the history of the screen as a classic, for there is a grandeur to its story (the trials and tribulations of General George S. Patton Jr. during World War II) that is more than research into and documentation of facts. In concentrating on a man who was a controversial legend in his own time, it gives us an insight into a brilliant but erratic personality.

The direction and the writing are superlative, but the acting by George C. Scott in the title role is what makes this film magnificent. Without a shadow of a doubt, Scott turns in one of the greatest performances of all time. He is the perfect military man; the old warrior who knows how to revitalize his forces.

A Perfect Patton

There is not a grain of cowardice in this man, and the movie makes it crystal clear why Patton was the only commander the Germans learned to respect in Africa. Scott towers on screen; is so real in the role that he IS Patton. Whether patting his men on the back, slapping a wounded hero, or musing bitterly that he has been denied the "only proper end for a professional soldier—a quick death inflicted by the last bullet of the last battle," actor Scott is the general to the hilt.

As "Patton" unreeles currently at Kingston's Mayfair, it is a study of two men told in counterpoint: the unpredictable Patton and the steady, professional General of the Army Omar N. Bradley (Karl Malden). It excels as a story of human relationships told against a background of war. Except for a brief episode at the beginning in Morocco where General Patton was pro-consul, the screenplay examines a period during World War II in which the lives of Patton and Bradley were intimately interwoven until ended by Patton's death from an automobile accident eight months after the final victory.

Malden is fine as Bradley but it is Scott who dominates the screen, recreating Patton's rivalry with Field Marshal Sir Bernard Law Montgomery; playing with restraint the hospital scene in which Patton slapped a soldier suffering from combat fatigue; commanding the Third Army in a spectacular breakthrough in Normandy with heroism and lightning-like maneuvers; facing political pressures and repeatedly getting into political "hot water."

"Patton" may well be the film of the year, for it is historically factual, neither romanticizes nor glorifies; is packed with suspenseful action. And George C. Scott may well be the actor of the decade, who has stunningly accomplished what has never been done on screen before. He shows us what a real military man is at the core; plumbs the very depths of a true soldier's soul.

Woodstock

Nothing really out of the ordinary was expected. The promoters figured that some 30 musical groups and singles would perform and perhaps about 40,000 youngsters would show up for their three-day Woodstock Festival on Max Yasgur's farm in Bethel, N. Y. last August. True, there were vibrations—and it might turn out bigger—but who could say.

What did happen marked one of the major cultural events of our time as up to half-a-million of the nation's young people clogged the highways of the Catskills on a pilgrimage to hear their kind of music and to be with their kind of people. Declared a disaster area by some, Woodstock was to those who were there the ultimate expression of peace and togetherness ever shared between kindred spirits.

Now, Warner Brothers has released "Woodstock," in Technicolor and with a special sound system, and it opened this week for a three-weeks run at the local 9-W Drive-In. It's the filmed record—a musical, sociological and even political documentary—that captures the essence of what some have called the most significant demonstration of the changing times ever witnessed in the U.S.

A New Talent

The movie establishes its director, 28-year-old Michael Wadleigh, as a bright new talent in the field. He sent his 20 young cameramen out into the biggest gathering of all time; half to film only the performers and half, shooting in a handheld cinema-verite manner, to record moments of interest emanating in in-promptu fashion from the immense crowd.

The film, then, recalls the three-day festival of peace, love and music for those who were there; documents its sometimes fantastic unbelievability for those who weren't.

NAZI OFFICERS STUDY the enemy via a film screening of General George S. Patton Jr. Dominating the large screen is George C. Scott, who turns in one of the greatest performances in movie history as controversial officer in "Patton," now at Kingston's Mayfair.

Young people will flock to 9-W to see the performances by their favorite recording stars: Joe Cocker, Crosby, Stills and Nash, Arlo Guthrie, Jimi Hendrix, Santana, Sha-na-na, Sly and the Family Stone, The Who, Joan Baez, Country Joe and the Fish, Richie Havens and John Sebastian. Older people will probably be far more intrigued by the cast of 500,000.

Getting Straight

A brilliant performance by Elliott Gould makes this film about campus revolt well worth seeing. Now playing at Kingston's Community, "Getting Straight" is one chapter in the story of student rebellion that started at the University of California in Berkeley in 1964 and spread throughout the country.

The locale and characters are fictitious, but the story is based on actual events. Gould, known for his superlative comedy, plays it seriously in this film: is cast as a 28-year-old graduate student fighting his way through a crisis of personal identity and badgered by the establishment in his quest to become a teacher.

Co-starring is Candice Bergen as the girl who urges Gould to fight hypocrisies in the education system, and does a little identity seeking on her own. Their struggle, individually and together, in finding a life style is the center of this story that unfolds in scenes on and off campus.

Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema is offering three films by Ingmar Bergman this week.

Overlook Mountain Watercolor at KSB

Overlook Mountain, "a spot to make a man solemnize," was mentioned several times in the writings of James Fenimore Cooper. It was from Overlook that Bolton C. Brown spotted "the likeliest and loveliest valley in the State of New York" and established the Woodstock Colony for artists.

This is one of four watercolors by John Pike created especially for the Kingston Savings Bank and now on display in the Bank's 273 Wall Street lobby.

More Than a Bit of Quixote

to translate daily happenings and daily emotions. Werner raises things to a personal ideal.

As for singers, I am always impressed by the truly great female gospel singers.

TEMPO: What do you do for relaxation?

ATKINSON: I own 250 acres on a mountain in the Woodstock area, and I keep it as a haven for wildlife. Conservation is my first love and I belong to many organizations such as the World Wild Life Federation and the Audubon Society. Most of my time away from the stage goes into turning this land into a sanctuary, and my wife and I plan to leave it to the Audubon Society.

TEMPO: You have set a personal longevity record in "La Mancha," but your original major interest was in opera. Have you any other career plans you'd like to develop?

ATKINSON: I've always remembered what Kennedy said, "I've learned in this day and age to have no long-range plans."

So much is happening that to make long-range plans short, of course, of protecting yourself from winding up in an old folks home, I am fairly flexible at this point. I'm more interested in what's happening today and opera is mostly archaic. Still, there are a few roles I'd like to get off my chest.

TEMPO: As a native-born Canadian, would you comment on the fact that almost every variety show on TV today has a Canadian producer, head writer or director. Might the reason be that Canada, with its multitude of live shows, is the only place left where young directors and writers can practice their craft?

ATKINSON: There is much to be said for that. Much Canadian TV is supported by the state, and both the state and TV are quite willing to accept criticism. A director of a specific live show is also a producer and there is a homogeneity of goals and interests.

A director there is unhampered and the creative juices in the formative period do not become stultified. I would not minimize the brilliant camera work by directors, however, in the U.S. Even the much maligned commercials here, shot very fast and against the pressure of time have made them masters at their craft.

TEMPO: Do you think the stage is the best medium for found in touring all over the country.

ATKINSON: I think it's a great medium, and one that had no live theatre potentially that should satisfy since the days of Booth, and it many people who have a lot evoked an immediate chemical of important things to say. Its reaction that was gratifying lure for many people has been and beautiful. If to communit- temporarily lost, but I think they cate has to be one of the basic will come back when they desires of theatre, there realize how effective it can be, couldn't be a vehicle that has its life line is in the small been more rewarding or that communities, and in state and has brought more returns than other-supported theatres. Here, "La Mancha." The show says exciting and avant garde things many things that need to be about local problems can be said and, in talks with hundreds presented. Broadway has of students and in letters from atrophied to the point of no many of them, they have made return. It's become a group art clear that this show gave them form and this is its horror as a sense of reaffirmation at a time when they felt it was becoming useless to work for change, and at a point when they were seriously considering 'dropping-out.'

TEMPO: Do you enjoy the actual work as well as the success of being an actor?

ATKINSON: Success is ephemeral and a very jagged chart on my graph. The lines go up and down. I have ambivalent feelings, since I have had both joy and depression. Creativity can be agonizing and embarrassing, too, when you realize you're performing before so many people.

TEMPO: You have concentrated so much on singing and musicals in your career, one wonders about the vast repertoire of songs you must have collected over the years.

ATKINSON: Yes, I used to do a lot of folk singing and I have a large backlog of French-Canadian and Indian folksongs. I've always been interested in the Indian people, and I am here in "La Mancha" at Woodstock because of an Indian principle. They believe that if you take something from the land, you must return it. I have turned down many offers to do "La Mancha" elsewhere, but Woodstock has given me much joy. There is a center of gravity here; there are young people moving for change; and there are artistic people I respect highly. In return, I am doing the finest role I have ever played, in spite of the fact that so many years and miles and stops had almost convinced me I had portrayed Quixote quite enough.

TEMPO: One final question. Did you think "La Mancha" would attract such a wide audience and prove so durable when you first saw it?

ATKINSON: I was tremendously overwhelmed, much as I was with seeing Ralph Richardson do Richard III. But from an actor's viewpoint, I don't think I was prepared for the almost explosive reaction I

A Poetry Prize Won by Spireng

A poem, "Lines," by Matthew J. Spireng of Stone Ridge, a summer reporter for The Freeman, has been awarded an honorable mention prize in the Hollins Conference Hollins Critic prize competition.

The Hollins Critic, published five time a year by Hollins College, Virginia, has on its editorial board William Jay Smith, poetry consultant for the Library of Congress, among other scholars and poets.

Spireng was one of over 250 writers of all ages who attended the Hollins Conference, held June 15-June 27. On the staff at the conference were, among many others, James Dickey, Richard Wilbur, William Manchester, David Slavitt (Henry Sutton), and Ralph Ellison.

Grammy Winners to Appear at S.P.A.C.

THE FIFTH DIMENSION, winners of the 1969 Grammy Award for Best Record of the Year, will appear at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center on Monday, Aug. 24 at 8:30 p. m. The five-member contemporary singing group won the Grammy for "Aquarius — Let the Sunshine In," which sold over two million singles and $1 million worth in albums within weeks after its release.

Cavorting At An Ever Merry Beggars Ball

On Beggars Day in medieval times, royalty, noblemen, artists, the intelligentsia, merchants, and townfolks are yourselves. Come in whatever role you would like to play. The beggars are The Performing Arts of Woodstock, begging for enough money to start building a theater of their own. If there is a king among you who would like to give a piece of land in lieu of the price of tickets, he will be crowned, in all his glory, on the stroke of midnight, with all the pomp and ceremony due a great and goodly man.

Site of Merriment

The merriment will take place at the "A-frame" St. Gregory's Episcopal Church on Route 212, the road to Saugerties, just one mile from the Village Green in Woodstock.

The Montgomerys, who jammed the Village Jug during their long engagement there, will be the royal musicians for the Ball.

In the afternoon of Beggars Day, Ron Sanders and his Novo Group will give an exhibition of International Folk Dance, followed by an open session for everyone, led by Ron, with the Group assisting. There will be international delicacies, prepared by Woodstock's international set, available for the curious, and the gourmets.

The Beggars Ball will start groovin' at 9 p.m. Tickets are at Beggars Day Prices of $5, which includes a sumptuous supper. Refreshments will be on hand. For reservations call OR 9-9212, from 5 to 9 p.m.

Oils by Pedersen

Fishkill artist Laila Pedersen is currently displaying her original oil paintings at the Empire National Bank, Route 82, Hopewell Junction.

The Dutchess County painter's exhibit consists primarily of landscapes and canvases of wildlife. It will be on display during regular banking hours through Aug. 31.

Laila Pedersen has previously shown her paintings at several area banks, the Rhinebeck Rotary Art Show, Woodstock's Arts and Antique Fair, as well as in a private showing for Sons of Norway.

Harvey Fite: Opus 40 by Way Of Angkor Wat

OPUS 40, the monumental environmental landscape sculpture, an experience not to be forgotten.

Fite has become celebrated as a sculptor for his work in wood and stone, strongly influenced in recent years by Khmer sculpture. During a visit in the late 1950's to Cambodia and its temples (including Angkor Wat which is much in the war news today), Fite studied Khmer art.

Built in the 12th century by Suryavarman II to honor Vishnu, and himself as his earthly incarnation, the walls of Angkor Wat are a jungle-like profusion of sculptured images of gods and goddesses, demons and dancing girls.

The full-blown charms of the apsaras, the celestial dancing girls, entertainers of the gods, are the almost omnipresent theme of the Khmer temples. Some of this wealth of beauty and detail is present in Fite's work. He has taken for polar themes in his sculpture the lush ethly radiance of the girls and the benign, contemplative, un-earthly peace of the Buddha.

Many of these sculptures will be on display at the Children's Rehabilitation Center benefit at OPUS 40 on Sept. 6. OPUS 40 has been a personal labor of love for famed sculptor Fite, created over the last 40 years, and earning its name for that herculean reason. The emotional impact of this gargantuan one-man-made architectural restructuring of the landscape against a backdrop of woods, mountains and sky is

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI
Reaching Jewish Community Center's Family Campsite on Hurley Mt. Road last Saturday night was like climbing the narrow, rocky way to Heaven . . . or at least Mt. Olive. One could tell he'd finally arrived by seein' the wide-open gates—while not exactly pearly, they DID lead to a Happy Hunting Ground.

Occasion was third annual Hawaiiian Luau and Jehovah certainly smiled on His children, arranging for crystal-clear weather, full moon, all the fresh air any ecology-minded buff could breathe, happy faces, Kosher chicken and beef-ka-bob, corn-on-cob, tantalizing pastries, and lively music. What else is there?

Talk 'bout music! Syd Doman on accordion, his wife at drums, with amplifier hook-up, made duet sound like 20-piece band. (Syd also sings; and why is it some people have ALL the talent?) Dancing skills were spread out, tho'. The world's just not ready yet for Norm and Sid Rafalowsky's version of Alley Cat. Norm hasn't been wasting those many years of fine Philharmonic music; all the rhythm just dropped by his ears to his feet. And nothing short of great were Mrs. Maurice (Anita) Goldberg, Sally Basch, Lorraine Trast joining hands in Greeb number. Many couples were graduates of Sunday night's folk dance lessons by Ron Sanders at Temple. (Also, Ben Suskind was celebratin' his 79th birthday; it was Sandy Mehl's birthday, too, but not her 79th.)

When dancers got overheated—they really shouldn't have; the huge, screened-in pavilion-type building was blessed with constant breezes—they took to the pools (there are three.) No one had a bathing suit so swimmers dived in clothes and all. Mike Basch was all smiles watching Carol Levinson and Sabina Millens splashing about; hairdos went from "afters to before" which is great for Mike's missus' House of Glamour beauty business. Speakin' of Mrs. B., both she and Hy Rosenberg's better half Thelma who was chairman of gala, were life-of-luau, living proof that blondes DO (make-ever-honest-effort) to have more fun.

Mrs. Fashion Town (Sandy Mehl—wife of Fashion Town proprietor Massie Mehl) went wading-to-the-neck at midnight. So what! If she christened one outfit, there's plenty more where that came from! It's a good thing those multi-colored Hawaiian prints were color-fast or more than a few water-waders would've come out of pool lookin' like they had an epidemic.

Harold Seidel didn't dive into-the-drink quick enough for some onlookers so he was helped along . . . bodily and fully clothed. By Harold's pained-expression, one would've thought a 10-day-old dish of gefiltefish just passed under his nose.

Some gals wore mates' garb in water. Why ruin their own, right? Right! Barbara Monashelsky made fetching picture as pathetic waif in jacket that must've s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d when it hit water; there was enough room for husband Harold and closest kin.

Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn is first sky pilot ever seen in grass skirt (and Dr. Herman Lowe, the first psychologist). Decked out with many-hued leis were Moe and Anne Schwartz, Jack Shienyold, Ira and Lorraine Trast, Barry Axler to this Garden of Eden one and his petite wife, Ephriam "heck" of a mountain road. Propp, optometrist Allan Segal Every thing was under com- and Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. trol at each moment even tho' Harold (Anne) Breuer with Muray Greene was playing bar-about-to-become relative who tender. But then, Robert Felt is linked with state road con-was there as lifeguard just in struction and who ruled route case. . . .

It's Mr. Bojangles In Return Concert

"Mr. Bojangles," Jerry Jeff Walker, returns to the Woodstock Playhouse, Monday, August 24.

Jerry Jeff hails from Oneonta, N. Y. He hit the road in 1959, traveling from town to town and state to state, living off his music and taking it all in. As part of a group known as Circus

Maximus he performed regularly at the Night Owl and Electric Circus in New York and cut two albums for Vanguard. His concert last season at the Playhouse was absolutely one of the best!

What thrust Jerry Jeff into public prominence, however, was his song, "Mr. Bojangles," which tells the tale of an old street dancer that Jerry met in a New Orleans jail. He has recorded the song for ATCO and his first album on the Atlantic label is called just that, "Mr. Bojangles."

Jerry Jeff has played Greenwich Village's Bitter End, which has been instrumental in bringing him further in the public eye. He's also played the Philadelphia Folk Festival.

His lyrics "deal articulately with pettiness, war, religion, social irritations, and most often, ordinary people," wrote the Toronto Globe and Mail.

On Monday, August 24, Jerry

Jeff Walker plays the Woodstock Playhouse. For reservations and information call 679-2015.

Museum Village Market & Sale

Antique dealers will converge on Museum Village of Smith's Clove on Sunday, Aug. 23 for the ninth annual Antique Flea Market and Sale. The market, one of the best held yearly in southern New York, includes antique dealers from Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. The hours are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The activities of Museum Village of Smith's Clove will continue throughout the day of the sale with the usual craft demonstrations in weaving, pottery, blacksmith, tin smith, candle making, broom making and pewter shop.

Located on Route 17 at Monroe, New York, this museum now has over 40 buildings with antique displays.

Featured in the festival series are "Shame," "Hour of the Wolf," and "Persona." All three films star the famed Swedish director's leading women, Liv Ullmann and Bibi Andersson, while the first two co-star favorite leading man, Max von Sydow.

In "Shame," von Sydow plays a musician, and Liv Ullman plays a protective female figure, the preserver of human values. The theme is the demoralizing effect of war on personal relationships and spiritual intensity. Filmed, as was "Hour of the Wolf," on a lonely island, "Shame" has a final scene of Miss Ullman in a lifeboat which is evoked in the celebrated Bergman's latest film, "The Passion of Anna," seen recently at Woodstock.

In "The Hour of the Wolf," von Sydow plays a painter, and Ullman plays the mother figure of "Shame." "Persona," the third entry at the Tinker Street Cinema, brings together Ullman and Andersson again on a lonely island where they appear to fuse identities with one another. Check the theatre's ad in The Freeman for the scheduled nightly showing of each of the three films.

When in Rome . . .

In the days of the Roman Empire, regular salaries or household budgets were not common. Both housewives and businessmen adopted the practice of setting aside money for specific items in little leather bags. Bulga, the Latin word for "bag", came to mean the careful planning of one's finances.

The word "Bulga" was adopted into French as Bougette, and then was eventually used in English as Budget.

As you set aside specific portions of your budget for various expenses, don't forget to pay regular amounts to yourself, in the form of a deposit into your savings account every payday. We will regularly add earnings to your savings.
